West-Russian Meeting Seen If Pact Okayed

Paris Agreements
Will Provide New Basis Of Strength

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (AP)—The Allied program for arming West Germany will provide a new basis of strength from which to negotiate with Russia on European settlement, diplomatic officials said today.

Another Big Four foreign ministers meeting on German unification, as well as on an Austrian independence treaty and related issues, is considered likely therefore after the new program is ratified—assuming it is. Yesterday's widely hailed agreements at Paris still must have the approval of the French Assembly, the U.S. Senate and other parliaments.

No Pre-Ratification Talks

But Western leaders, including Secretary of State Dulles, are reported to have agreed that they want no conference with the Russians before ratification has been secured. To go into such a meeting in the next few weeks as Moscow proposed yesterday would only be to fall in with Russia's expected moves to try to stall and eventually kill the Western European Union.

Russia's call for a meeting in November will either be rejected or put off, authorities said, but the door will not be closed to an eventual session of Dulles, Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov, British Foreign Secretary Eden and French Premier-Foreign Minister Mendes-France.

No "Agonizing Reappraisal"

Apart from great interest here in Russia's quick counter move, which U.S. officials consider weak and ineffective, several other points were noted in connection with the Paris agreements:

1. The "agonizing reappraisal" of U.S. relations with Western Europe is now automatically suspended. If the Western European Union goes through parliamentary approval, U.S. policy will continue to be based on building maximum strength through unity in Europe.
2. U.S. military aid can now flow at full volume without interruption to France and Italy. Congress had provided that aid would have to be suspended for those European countries which did not ratify EDC or a satisfactory substitute.
3. Senate ratification of the protocols—amendments—to the North Atlantic Treaty which will make West Germany the 15th member of that pact and give the NATO commander in Europe new powers to control German forces should be readily obtained.

Chinese Nationalists Raid Communist Isle

TAIPEH, Formosa, Oct. 24 (AP)—Nationalist guerrillas from the Tachen Islands Saturday raided a Communist island, burned down barracks and inflicted scores of casualties, the official Central Daily News said today.

The newspaper said the raiders captured 20 Communists, killed more than 20 and wounded 60 more before withdrawing.

The island is Yangchiao (Sheep Horn Island) near the coast about 90 miles south of the Tachens. The Tachens are 200 miles north of Formosa.

Birth Of Boy Breaks Claim To Biggest All-Girl Family

PITTSFIELD, Maine, Oct. 24 (AP)—The Brooks' family claim to be the nation's biggest all-girl family—there are 13 girls—was broken today by the birth of a boy.

Leslie Benjamin Brooks born at 12:25 p.m. to 39-year-old Mrs. Lloyd Brooks in the living room of the family's remodeled school house on rural Snake Root Road. He weighed 6 pounds, 8 ounces.

The father, a $50-a-week truck driver who also is 39, disclosed that he had been secretly hoping for a son all along.

"Now that I have a boy, I hope it will be the end," Brooks said. Mrs. Brooks, tired but happy, would not commit herself when asked if she was disappointed. "We'll love him just as much as the girls," she said.

But the girls were all disappointed.

Troopers Guard Missouri Prison In Wake Of Riot

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Oct. 24 (AP)—While heavily armed state troopers stood by out of sight of the convicts, more than 1,000 inmates at Missouri's riot-torn penitentiary went peacefully through their regular Sunday breakfast and lunch today.

The meals were taken with prison authorities poised for action following yesterday's short-lived food riot in which one convict was killed and 37 injured. It was the third outbreak at the sprawling penitentiary in a month, the first one—Sept. 22—claiming the lives of four prisoners.

Two machine guns were posted at strategic points today, but Warden Ralph N. Eidson said the meals went off with "not a ripple of a difficulty." The men, he added, seemed more relaxed than in some time.

Today's dinner menu included baked ham, mashed potatoes and creamed gravy, corn, hot buns, cookies and coffee. The convicts also received ham sandwiches to take back to their cells for an evening snack—a regular routine on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays.

Return of radio and newspaper privileges and exercise periods in the recreation yard depends on the convicts' attitude, Eidson said. Until things get back to normal, he explained, the men will be kept in their cells except for regular meal periods.

Meanwhile, all was reported quiet at the women's branch of the prison, where several inmates also rioted last night, hours after the uprising was put down in the men's prison.

The women's branch located on a hill about half a mile from the men's prison, was the scene of an attempt to burn down a dormitory.

"be pink," said Eunice, who at 16 is the oldest in the family.

Mrs. Brooks had been counting on a 14th daughter and purchased baby clothes for a girl.

Eunice, Alma, 15 and Elaine, 14, were at home caring for Joyce, 3, and Lorene, one and a half years old. The others spent the day with a great aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Ames.

The other girls — they're all blue-eyed blondes — are Eleanor, 4, Rae Jean, 5, Hazel, 7, Donna, 8, Janet and Janice, 10 year old twins, Rosalie, 11, and Ervena, 13.

Leslie Benjamin, named for his grandfathers, and his mother, a small brown haired woman, were reportedly "doing fine."

Their home is a weatherbeaten cluttered old house with four rooms downstairs and an unfinished attic. It shelters, besides papa and mama Brooks and their brood, two dogs, two cats, a rabbit, and a parakeet.

Peace Hopes Voiced On U.N. 9th Birthday

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Oct. 24 (AP)—New hopes for world peace were voiced here on the U.N.'s ninth birthday today as Assembly delegates, American spokesmen, and secretariate figures joined in a headquarters celebration.

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, speaking for the American Assn. for the U.N., which sponsored the program, said she believed she was speaking for all the women of the world in expressing the hope that "no great war will engulf the world."

She said she was grateful for the U.N. and for its growing support in this country.

Elco N. Van Kleffens, Netherlands diplomat, who is president of the current General Assembly, told his audience which included radio listeners throughout the world "the people of the world look to the U.N. for what they want above all: Peace. . . . It is up to everyone of us to help in bringing peaceful international relations nearer."

Zarubin Ranking Russian
Prolonged applause greeted Mrs. Roosevelt except from Soviet delegates. None of the top delegates was present. The ranking Russian was Georgi Zarubin, Soviet ambassador to Washington.

With American Chief Delegate H. C. Lodge Jr. making a U.N. Day speech in Minneapolis and his deputy in Toledo, the ranking Americans were Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark) and Ade M. Johnson, Washington State labor director, members of the U. S. delegation.

Last year Russia's Andrei Vishinsky and Britain's Sir Gladwyn Jebb were among the principal guests at the U.N. party.

Colorful Ceremony
The symphony of the air, conducted by Charles Munch, and the New York Singing Society Schola Cantorum, joined in a musical program which included the Russian Dmitri Shostakovich U.N. March and the American Aaron Copland Hymn to the U.N.

As part of the ceremony, 60 U.N. guards bore in the flags of the U.N. member nations in a splash of color that filled the Assembly hall.

Messages of hope and congratulations from government heads throughout the world continued to pour in on U.N. headquarters today.

President Eisenhower and two score governors proclaimed a U.N. Day in Utah and California governors declined to follow suit.

Like And Cabinet Will Hear Dulles
THURMONT, Md., Oct. 24 (AP)—President Eisenhower today called a special meeting of his Cabinet for tomorrow night in Washington to receive a report from Secretary of State Dulles on the Paris agreements.

In announcing this at the chief executive's weekend retreat in the Catocin Mountains here, White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the President considers the agreements reached yesterday not only a diplomatic victory but "an historic step toward that unity so necessary for maintenance of the freedom of Western Europe."

Hagerty also announced Eisenhower will pay Dulles an unprecedented tribute by meeting him at National Airport in Washington tomorrow noon when the Secretary returns from Paris via Bermuda.

It will be the first time since Eisenhower took office that he has gone to the airport personally to bid goodbye or welcome home any government official.

Supposed to Pass At Siding
Killed was Charles Bascue of Whitehall, N.Y., head trainman on the 113-car freight.

Sgt. John P. Snell of the state police said the nine-car Laurrent train, had slowed down to about 3 to 10 miles an hour when the crash occurred about a mile south of Port Henry. Snell said the north-bound freight was traveling about 35 miles an hour.

The state police sergeant said he understood the two trains were supposed to pass at a siding just north of where they collided.

Railroad Investigating
However, the D & H dispatcher's office at Albany said there was no switch near that point. A spokesman said the railroad was investigating to determine how it happened that both trains were moving on the track.

The diesel engine of the Laurrent train was derailed, one of its three baggage cars was overturned and the other two baggage cars were derailed. Five passenger cars and a parlor car stayed on the tracks.

Both diesels pulling the 113-car freight overturned down a 10-foot embankment into a swamp on the edge of the lake. About 15 freight cars were derailed.

Supreme Court decision in the school case was handed down, President Eisenhower told the D. C. school system that he expected the ending of segregation in Washington schools to set a model for the nation, and it has. No city now says it can't be done, because Washington, D. C., whose school population is nearly half Negro, did it. And remember Washington is south of the Mason-Dixon Line.

Eisenhower's Principles
The principles of President Eisenhower's leadership are clear and simple:

1. Don't debate the race issue. The time for talk is long since past. Find out where we can do something to solve it and then do it.

2. Where there is Federal authority and responsibility there must be no discrimination. The government must be a model in fair non-discriminatory policy and practice. Take it step by step, but take it.

3. Keep the issue out of narrow political controversy. Make gains steadily and quietly.

4. Appoint leaders to key posts who will give steady and intelligent leadership in this matter.

5. Be patient but persistent and vigilant in all steps to end discrimination.

Senator Reports Program Loaded With Propaganda

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (AP)—Sen. Jenner (R-Ind) said today American soldiers in World War II "were taught the Communist line by men wearing the American uniform" from the time they entered the Army until they were mustered out.

Jenner made the statement in announcing publication by the Senate Internal Security subcommittee of testimony taken at public hearings in July and August about the Army's Information and Education program during World War II.

Jenner, the subcommittee chairman, said the testimony showed that the program, "to which every GI was subjected, was heavily loaded with pro-Soviet propaganda and staffed in many instances by men with Communist records."

His statement continued: "The orientation program of 1 and E was supposed to be a morale builder for new recruits and for the sick and wounded and exhausted soldiers in the hospitals and rest camps. So what did it consist of?"

"Publications of the Institute of Pacific Relations, which this subcommittee found was regarded by Soviet officials as an instrument of Communist propaganda; the Soviet Information Bulletin, America and the like.

"The writing was done and the troops instructed, in many cases, by men who later used the Fifth Amendment as a protection against self-incrimination to avoid revealing their Communist records."

Jenner said that "the chief of the key program section of the orientation branch, Lt. Col. Julius Schreiber, was one of those who relied on the Fifth Amendment in testifying before the subcommittee."

He noted that Schreiber swore he is not now a Communist party member and has not been since Jan. 1, 1941, but that he refused to answer questions about any Communist connections prior to that time.

Schreiber, a Washington, D. C. psychiatrist, testified at a July 7 hearing that during the entire time he was in the Army he was not a Communist, participated in no Communist activities and saw no Communist activities.

President Wishes American People "Gay" Halloween
WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (AP)—President Eisenhower tonight combined a tribute to Thomas A. Edison with a wish to the American people for "gay" Halloween.

The President said he would particularly like to spend Halloween with his grandchildren because it "is one of those times when we Americans actually encourage the little individuals to be free to do things rather as they please."

"I hope," he said, "you and your children have a gay evening and let's all give a little prayer that their childish pranks will be the only kind of mischief with which we Americans must cope. But it can be a confident kind of prayer too, for God has made us strong and faith has made and kept us free."

Eisenhower's remarks were filmed for a TV broadcast observing the 75th anniversary of Edison's invention of the incandescent light.

Drastic Action Taken To Meet Pakistan Crisis

KARACHI, Pakistan, Oct. 24 (AP)—The governor general of crisis-ridden Pakistan declared a state of emergency today, dissolved the Constituent Assembly, and dismissed the Cabinet of Prime Minister Mohammed Ali.

Within hours Mohammed Ali announced in a broadcast to the nation he had accepted Gov. Gen. Ghulam Mohammed's mandate to form a new government. He said he had formed a seven-man Cabinet to deal with the country's "hour of crisis."

The new ministry includes Gen. Mohammed Ayub Khan, commander in chief of Pakistan's army, and M. A. H. Ispahani, recently appointed ambassador to London.

Visit To U.S. Cut Short
Mohammed Ali cut short a visit to the United States and flew home last night to face a gathering political storm. He returned with substantially increased American aid, which should help him in dealing with the economic side of his manifold problems.

He went straight to the governor general's home last night and conferred with him for three hours. Today's drastic action was the outcome of their talks.

In his broadcast tonight, Mohammed Ali said "recent decisions of the Constituent Assembly provoked a storm in the country" and "caused internal strain and bickering, personal, sectional, and provincial rivalries." He asserted the emergency action was in the larger interest of the country.

Reds Break Up 'Boogie Woogie' Band In Germany

BERLIN, Oct. 24 (AP)—The Communists have brought an unusual end to "crazy boogie woogie" dancing in an East German town.

A district court sentenced eight youthful leaders of the "Manhattan Club" in the uranium mining town of Aue to prison yesterday for a list of crimes ranging from tossing their dance partners over their shoulders to spying for the West.

The demise of the "Manhattan Club" was reported by the Communist newspaper Volkstimme of Karl Marx City under the heading: "End of the boogie woogie band in Aue."

WOODBURY, N.J., Oct. 24 (AP)—An aerial balloon made a forced landing on a farm in nearby Mullica Hill today, shaking up its five occupants—including the son of a famous explorer—and resulting in slight injuries to two of them.

Among the passengers were Donald L. Piccard, 28, and his wife, Joan, 25, of Newark, Del., the son and daughter-in-law of famed balloonist and stratosphere explorer Dr. Jean Piccard.

The balloon's bag was torn in flight, resulting in a quick escape of gas and a hasty descent onto the farm of Kenneth Stretch along Route 322. The bag jostled along the ground for a while before being brought under control.

The balloon, piloted by Piccard, left the Valley Forge, Pa., airport this morning for a trip to Atlantic City.

Premier Says Accords Will Spur Economy

Mendes-France Tells People Agreements
Will Assure Markets

PARIS, Oct. 24 (AP)—French Premier Pierre Mendes-France, girding himself for a parliamentary showdown on the plan for adding West German support to Europe's defenses, told the French people tonight he is determined to make far-reaching economic accords with the Bonn government.

The Premier addressed the nation in his weekly broadcast. He declared economic agreements would raise French and German living standards.

"France and Germany are two countries whose nearness to one another and whose resources and production require their close association together," he said.

He reminded the French that West Germany is their best customer and the "second most important provider of goods" and said such facts mean the two countries need each other.

"Because of this," he continued, "we are determined to conclude accords (with West Germany) of long duration such as will assure permanent markets for French wheat, sugar, milk products, etc.

Saar No Longer Obstacle
"It is also useful to encourage associations between French and German business and financial interests with the aim of making the best of our respective resources, increasing production, and making research to find markets elsewhere in the world."

Mendes-France said that since the signing of an agreement yesterday with West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer on the Saar's future, that industrially rich territory is no longer an obstacle to French-German cooperation. He added the agreements to Europeanize the Saar within the French economy was not achieved without pain" but that it "satisfied rights and interests of France in a way we had called for in vain for a very long time."

Russia's bid last night for another Big Four conference in November on a German peace settlement is an example of the roadblocks Moscow is expected to throw in front of the Allied plan.

It came only a few hours after the foreign ministers of 15 Western nations signed protocols to three treaties that, if and when ratified by the national parliaments, are to line up West Germany as a free and equal partner in defense against Communist aggression.

West Stands By Conditions
The United States, Britain and France are reported standing by two tight conditions for any such conference:

1. Russia must agree in advance to the holding of free, supervised German-wide elections for an all-German government.

2. Russia must act in advance to conclude a treaty of independence for occupied Austria.

The Allies laid down these conditions in notes to Moscow last month.

The Kremlin appeared to have made a move at offering to meet the conditions. But American, British and French foreign ministers were reported satisfied the Russian answer is no more than a diplomatic attempt to defer or destroy the Paris agreements.

The various agreements would end the Allied occupation and rearm the West Germans under safeguards within a seven-nation Western European Union and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Twelve German divisions would bolster Allied lines guarding the Elbe.

Troopers Guard Missouri Prison In Wake Of Riot

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Oct. 24 (AP)—While heavily armed state troopers stood by out of sight of the convicts, more than 1,000 inmates at Missouri's riot-torn penitentiary went peacefully through their regular Sunday breakfast and lunch today.

The meals were taken with prison authorities poised for action following yesterday's short-lived food riot in which one convict was killed and 37 injured. It was the third outbreak at the sprawling penitentiary in a month, the first one—Sept. 22—claiming the lives of four prisoners.

Two machine guns were posted at strategic points today, but Warden Ralph N. Eldson said the meals went off with "not a ripple of a difficulty." The men, he added, seemed more relaxed than in some time.

Today's dinner menu included baked ham, mashed potatoes and creamed gravy, corn, hot buns, cookies and coffee. The convicts also received ham sandwiches to take back to their cells for an evening snack—a regular routine on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays.

Return of radio and newspaper privileges and exercise periods in the recreation yard depends on the convicts' attitude, Eldson said. Until things get back to normal, he explained, the men will be kept in their cells except for regular meal periods.

Meanwhile, all was reported quiet at the women's branch of the prison, where several inmates also rioted last night, hours after the uprising was put down in the men's prison.

The women's branch located on a hill about half a mile from the men's prison, was the scene of an attempt to burn down a dormitory.

be pink," said Eunice, who at 16 is the oldest in the family.

Mrs. Brooks had been counting on a 14th daughter and purchased baby clothes for a girl.

Eunice, Alma, 15 and Elaine, 14, were at home caring for Joyce, 3, and Lorene, one and a half years old. The others spent the day with a great aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Ames.

The other girls — they're all blue-eyed blondes — are Eleanor, 4, Rae Jean, 5, Hazel, 7, Donna, 8, Janet and Janice, 10 year old twins, Rosalie, 11, and Ervena, 13. Leslie Benjamin, named for his grandfathers, and his mother, a small brown haired woman, were reportedly "doing fine."

Their home is a weatherbeaten cluttered old house with four rooms downstairs and an unfinished attic. It shelters, besides papa and mama Brooks and their brood, two dogs, two cats, a rabbit, and a parakeet.

Peace Hopes Voiced On U.N. 9th Birthday

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Oct. 24 (AP)—New hopes for world peace were voiced here on the U.N.'s ninth birthday today as Assembly delegates, American spokesmen, and secretariate figures joined in a headquarters celebration.

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, speaking for the American Assn. for the U.N., which sponsored the program, said she believed she was speaking for all the women of the world in expressing the hope that "no great war will engulf the world."

She said she was grateful for the U.N. and for its growing support in this country.

Elco N. Van Kleffens, Netherlands diplomat, who is president of the current General Assembly, told his audience which included radio listeners throughout the world "the people of the world look to the U.N. for what they want above all: Peace. . . . It is up to everyone of us to help in bringing peaceful international relations nearer."

Zarubin Ranking Russian

Prolonged applause greeted Mrs. Roosevelt except from Soviet delegates. None of the top delegates was present. The ranking Russian was Georgi Zarubin, Soviet ambassador to Washington.

With American Chief Delegate H. C. Lodge Jr. making a U.N. Day speech in Minneapolis and his deputy in Toledo, the ranking Americans were Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark.) and Ade M. Johnson, Washington State labor director, members of the U.S. delegation.

Last year Russia's Andrei Vishinsky and Britain's Sir Gladwyn Jebb were among the principal guests at the U.N. party.

Colorful Ceremony

The symphony of the air, conducted by Charles Munch, and the New York Singing Society Schola Cantorum, joined in a musical program which included the Russian Dmitri Shostakovich U.N. March and the American Aaron Copland Hymn to the U.N.

As part of the ceremony, 60 U.N. guards bore in the flags of the U.N. member nations in a splash of color that filled the Assembly hall.

Messages of hope and congratulations from government heads throughout the world continued to pour in on U.N. headquarters today.

President Eisenhower and two score governors proclaimed a U.N. Day but in Utah and California governors declined to follow suit.

Ike And Cabinet Will Hear Dulles

THURMONT, Md., Oct. 24 (AP)—President Eisenhower today called a special meeting of his Cabinet for tomorrow night in Washington to receive a report from Secretary of State Dulles on the Paris agreements.

In announcing this at the chief executive's weekend retreat in the Catoctin Mountains here, White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the President considers the agreements reached yesterday not only a diplomatic victory but "an historic step toward unity so necessary for maintenance of the freedom of Western Europe."

Hagerty also announced Eisenhower will pay Dulles an unprecedented tribute by meeting him at National Airport in Washington tomorrow noon when the secretary returns from Paris via Bermuda.

It will be the first time since Eisenhower took office that he has gone to the airport personally to bid goodbye or welcome home any government official.

This is another in a series of articles by top executives in the Eisenhower administration offered by the New York Herald Tribune Syndicate to some 1,600 daily newspapers throughout the country as a public service. The articles are designed as mid-term reports to the American people on the administration's accomplishments and plans.

Tom Watson, GOP Candidate For Fla. Governor, Dies

TAMPA, Fla., Oct. 24 (AP)—J. Tom Watson, Republican candidate for governor of Florida, died today. Watson, 68, had been ill several months.

His illness had prevented him from active campaigning, but he had said doctors assured him he was recovering and would be able to assume the duties of governor next January if elected.

A former state attorney general, noted for his fight for Florida's anticlosed shop amendment, Watson switched from the Democratic party a short time before announcing his candidacy for governor on the GOP platform.

Head-On Train Collision Kills One, Injures 50

CROWN POINT, N.Y., Oct. 24 (AP)—The Delaware and Hudson's Laurentian express en route from Montreal to New York and a freight train collided head-on today on a single-track line on the shore of Lake Champlain. One trainman was killed and state police reported at least 50 persons were injured, most of them slightly.

Six injured were admitted at Moses Luddington Hospital in Ticonderoga, the hospital said.

The Delaware and Hudson Railroad reported none of the 125 passengers on the Laurentian required hospital treatment. The railroad listed five crewmen admitted to the hospital.

Supposed To Pass At Siding

Killed was Charles Bascue of Whitehall, N.Y., head trainman on the 113-car freight.

Sgt. John P. Snell of the state police said the nine-car Laurentian, had slowed down to about 3 to 10 miles an hour when the crash occurred about a mile south of Port Henry. Snell said the north-bound freight was traveling about 35 miles an hour.

The state police sergeant said he understood the two trains were supposed to pass at a siding just north of where they collided.

Railroad Investigating

However, the D & H dispatcher's office at Albany said there was no switch near that point. A spokesman said the railroad was investigating to determine how it happened that both trains were moving on the track.

The diesel engine of the Laurentian was derailed, one of its three baggage cars was overturned and the other two baggage cars were derailed. Five passenger cars and a parlor car stayed on the tracks.

Both diesels pulling the 113-car freight overturned down a 10-foot embankment into a swamp on the edge of the lake. About 15 freight cars were derailed.

Senator Reports Program Loaded With Propaganda

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (AP)—Sen. Jenner (R-Ind.) said today American soldiers in World War II "were taught the Communist line by men wearing the American uniform" from the time they entered the Army until they were mustered out.

Jenner made the statement in announcing publication by the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee of testimony taken at public hearings in July and August about the Army's Information and Education program during World War II.

Jenner, the subcommittee chairman, said the testimony showed that the program, "to which every GI was subjected, was heavily loaded with pro-Soviet propaganda and staffed in many instances by men with Communist records."

His statement continued: "The orientation program of I and E was supposed to be a morale builder for new recruits and for the sick and wounded and exhausted soldiers in the hospitals and rest camps. So what did it consist of?"

"Publications of the Institute of Pacific Relations, which this subcommittee found was regarded by Soviet officials as an instrument of Communist propaganda; the Soviet Information Bulletin, Amerasia and the like.

"The writing was done and the troops instructed, in many cases, by men who later used the Fifth Amendment as a protection against self-incrimination to avoid revealing their Communist records."

Jenner said that "the chief of the key program section of the orientation branch, Lt. Col. Julius Schreiber, was one of those who relied on the Fifth Amendment" in testifying before the subcommittee.

He noted that Schreiber swore he is not now a Communist party member and has not been since Jan. 1, 1941, but that he refused to answer questions about any Communist connections prior to that time.

Schreiber, a Washington, D. C. psychiatrist, testified at a July 7 hearing that during the entire time he was in the Army he was not a Communist, participated in no Communist activities and saw no Communist activities.

President Wishes American People "Gay" Halloween

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (AP)—President Eisenhower tonight combined a tribute to Thomas A. Edison with a wish to the American people for "gay" Halloween.

The President said he would particularly like to spend Halloween with his grandchildren because it "is one of those times when we Americans actually encourage the little individuals to be free to do things rather as they please."

"I hope," he said, "you and your children have a gay evening and let's all give a little prayer that their childish pranks will be the only kind of mischief with which we Americans must cope. But it can be a confident kind of prayer too, for God has made us strong and faith has made and kept us free."

Eisenhower's remarks were filmed for a TV broadcast observing the 75th anniversary of Edison's invention of the incandescent light.

Drastic Action Taken To Meet Pakistan Crisis

KARACHI, Pakistan, Oct. 24 (AP)—The governor general of crisis-ridden Pakistan declared a state of emergency today, dissolved the Constituent Assembly, and dismissed the Cabinet of Prime Minister Mohammed Ali.

Within hours Mohammed Ali announced in a broadcast to the nation he had accepted Gov. Gen. Ghulam Mohammed's mandate to form a new government. He said he had formed a seven-man Cabinet to deal with the country's "hour of crisis."

The new ministry includes Gen. Mohammed Ayub Khan, commander in chief of Pakistan's army, and M. A. H. Ispahani, recently appointed ambassador to London.

Visit To U.S. Cut Short

Mohammed Ali cut short a visit to the United States and flew home last night to face a gathering political storm. He returned with substantially increased American aid, which should help him in dealing with the economic side of his manifold problems.

He went straight to the governor general's home last night and conferred with him for three hours. Today's drastic action was the outcome of their talks.

In his broadcast tonight, Mohammed Ali said "recent decisions of the Constituent Assembly provoked a storm in the country" and "caused internal strain and bickering, personal, sectional, and provincial rivalries." He asserted the emergency action was in the larger interest of the country.

Charter Work Stalled

The Constituent Assembly, which also has been performing day to day legislative chores, has roused the impatience of many Pakistanis. It has been unable to draft a basic charter for the country in the seven years since Britain gave Pakistan and India independence. Both countries are still members of the British Commonwealth.

Mohammed Ali's own Moslem League party, which was largely instrumental in winning Pakistan's independence, has dominated the Assembly. It had 58 of the 78 members.

BERLIN, Oct. 24 (AP)—The Communists have brought an unmusical end to "crazy boogie woogie" dancing in an East German town. A district court sentenced eight youthful leaders of the "Manhattan Club" in the uranium mining town of Aue to prison yesterday for a list of crimes ranging from tossing their dance partners over their shoulders to spying for the West.

Five Shaken Up In Balloon Crash

WOODBURY, N.J., Oct. 24 (AP)—An aerial balloon made a forced landing on a farm in nearby Mullica Hill today, shaking up its five occupants—including the son of a famous explorer—and resulting in slight injuries to two of them.

Among the passengers were Donald L. Piccard, 28, and his wife, Joan, 25, of Newark, Del., the son and daughter-in-law of famed balloonist and stratosphere explorer Dr. Jean Piccard.

The balloon's bag was torn in flight, resulting in a quick escape of gas and a hasty descent onto the farm of Kenneth Stretch along Route 322. The bag jostled along the ground for a while before being brought under control. The balloon, piloted by Piccard, left the Valley Forge, Pa., airport this morning for a trip to Atlantic City.

New Member Of AEC Sees Long Wait For Atom Power

PRINCETON, N.J., Oct. 24 (AP)—Atomic scientist John von Neumann, nominated to the five-man Atomic Energy Commission, predicts a long waiting period before atomic energy can be used economically.

Von Neumann, 51, named yesterday by President Eisenhower to the $18,000-a-year post, said in an interview he looks for atomic energy to have enormous industrial consequences as a power source in the future.

"But I'm convinced," he added, "it will take a long time before it could be applied economically—especially in this country where power is so cheap."

Premier Says Accords Will Spur Economy

Mendes-France Tells People Agreements Will Assure Markets

PARIS, Oct. 24 (AP)—French Premier Pierre Mendes-France, girding himself for a parliamentary showdown on the plan for adding West German support to Europe's defenses, told the French people tonight he is determined to make far-reaching economic accords with the Bonn government.

The Premier addressed the nation in his weekly broadcast. He declared economic agreements would raise French and German living standards.

"France and Germany are two countries whose nearness to one another and whose resources and production require their close association together," he said.

He reminded the French that West Germany is their best customer and the "second most important provider of goods" and said such facts mean the two countries need each other.

"Because of this," he continued, "we are determined to conclude accords (with West Germany) of long duration such as will assure permanent markets for French wheat, sugar, milk products, etc.

Saar No Longer Obstacle

"It is also useful to encourage associations between French and German business and financial interests with the aim of making the best of our respective resources, increasing production, and making research to find markets elsewhere in the world."

Mendes-France said that since the signing of an agreement yesterday with West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer on the Saar's future, that industrially rich territory is no longer an obstacle to French-German cooperation. He added the agreements to Europeanize the Saar within the French economy was not achieved without pain but that it "satisfied rights and interests of France in a way we had called for in vain for a very long time."

Russia's bid last night for another Big Four conference in November on a German peace settlement is an example of the roadblocks Moscow is expected to throw in front of the Allied plan.

It came only a few hours after the foreign ministers of 15 Western nations signed protocols to three treaties that, if and when ratified by the national parliaments, are to line up West Germany as a free and equal partner in defense against Communist aggression.

West Stands By Conditions

The United States, Britain and France are reported standing by two tight conditions for any such conference:

1. Russia must agree in advance to the holding of free, supervised German-wide elections for an all-German government.

2. Russia must act in advance to conclude a treaty of independence for occupied Austria.

The Allies laid down these conditions in notes to Moscow last month.

The Kremlin appeared to have made a move at offering to meet the conditions. But American, British and French foreign ministers were reported satisfied the Russian answer is no more than a diplomatic attempt to defer or destroy the Paris agreements.

The various agreements would end the Allied occupation and rearm the West Germans under safeguards within a seven-nation Western European Union and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Twelve German divisions would bolster Allied lines guarding the Elbe.

he said he was "anti-musical" but his wife was a music lover.

Mrs. Von Neumann is also a mathematician, but their 19-year-old daughter, Marina, a liberal arts student at Radcliffe College, has no interest in the subject.

He had little to say about his new appointment or about his work at the Institute for Advanced Study with which he has been connected for more than 20 years.

"My job involves high mathematics and lots of scientific terms that very few could understand," he said.

Von Neumann, who labels himself a political independent, will take the place of Eugene M. Zuckert for a five-year term ending June 30, 1959, if the Senate confirms his appointment. Politically, the other members of the commission divide three Republicans and one Democrat.

Attack On State University New Political Low Says Walsh

A vigorous reply to late attempts to belittle Dr. H. C. Byrd's administration as president of the University of Maryland was made Saturday by former Attorney General William C. Walsh, a member of the Byrd-For-Governor Advisory Committee. Said Walsh:

"The recent attempts of a few Republicans to attack Curley Byrd by casting reflections on the University of Maryland represents a new low in Maryland politics. Curley has devoted more than forty years of his life to the University, and he came up the hard way, starting as a teacher, and coach, and winding up as president."

"He became president in 1936 and served in that capacity until last January. As president he was responsible for the tremendous growth of the University during the past seventeen or eighteen years. When he left the University its building and other physical equipment represented an investment of about forty five million dollars of which about twenty three million came from State funds, while the remaining twenty two million represents Federal funds and private donations, secured by Dr. Byrd. In addition, the physical plant and equipment is now worth almost sixty million dollars, due to increase in value of buildings, etc. The result is that through the efforts of Curley Byrd the State of Maryland has a University worth fifty eight million dollars, which only cost the State twenty three million dollars."

"It should also be noted that when Dr. Byrd became president of the University in 1936, the total enrollment was less than four thousand, while for the school year 1952-53 the total enrollment exceeded twenty five thousand. Curley Byrd has thus made it possible for hundred of thousands of Maryland boys and girls to secure a higher education and many of these came from families which could not have afforded to send their children to private colleges and universities."

"With regard to the scholastic standing of the University, it might be pointed out that the majority of Maryland doctors, dentists, and lawyers are graduates of the University's medical, dental and law schools, and many Marylanders in other professions are also graduates of the University. Certainly, no political motive can justify raising a question as to the standing and ability of these doctors and other professional men and women who were trained at the University, and certainly these graduates and their legions of friends throughout the State will resent this type of political attack."

"In this connection it seems significant that in the last State bar examination held in July and taken by law graduates for Harvard, Yale, the University of Virginia and from other law schools of National standing, the five young men who made the highest marks were all graduates of the University of Maryland Law School. Furthermore, altho more than half of the 354 who took this examination failed to pass, approximately 90% of this year's graduates of the University of Maryland Law School did pass."

"It goes without saying that improvements can still be made, as nothing in this world is perfect, but if as much improvement is made in the next 17 or 18 years as was made under Dr. Byrd, the University will lead the nation's educational institutions, and whatever happens can never detract from the monument which Curley built for Maryland."

Former Resident Authors 14-Page Magazine Story

The name of Allan C. Fisher, Jr., whose parents reside in LaVale, is rapidly becoming one of the most familiar to readers of The National Geographic Magazine.

A member of the editorial staff for the past three years, he is represented in the September issue as author of a 14 page feature story on George Eastman. There are 23 illustrations. Under the title of "Eastman of Rochester: Photographic Pioneer" appears this sub-head—"A Gifted Bank Clerk, Born a Century Ago, Revolutionized Picture Taking and Made Kodak a Household Name."

Fisher had a story in the July National Geographic on the Postal Service that brought so many requests for extra copies that the magazine issued a reprint of the local man's article in order to satisfy the demand from all over the United States. Eventually every post office in the country received a copy.

"Everyone's Servant, the Post Office" was the title and there were 37 illustrations, 26 of them in natural color. One group of pictures follows a rural carrier as he makes his rounds in nearby West Virginia.

A graduate of Allegheny High School, where he was editor of the Alumni Mirror, Fisher went on to the University of Maryland where he also edited the Diamond Back. His journalistic experience has included newspaper work and free lance writing. As a member of the National Geographic editorial staff he has won widespread recognition.

Ridgeley Pupils Plan Friday Event

Students of Ridgeley Elementary School will hold a Halloween Fun Night program Friday, beginning with a parade at 6:30 p. m.

The parade will form at Bane's store, proceed down Blocker Street, State Road and Third Avenue to the Rod and Gun Club where the program will be presented.

Prizes will be awarded for the funniest, ugliest, prettiest and most original costumes and booths for candy and hot dogs will be available. A guess cake and cake walk will also be featured. Judges for the costumes will be Melvin M. Heiskel, Marion Dorsey and Mrs. Flossie Flanagan.

A meeting of the committees in charge will be held tomorrow at 7 p. m. at the school building.

New Check Design Adopted By Local Bank

An unusual combination of a Cumberland bank and a Cumberland-born artist has come to light in connection with a new check design adopted by the First National Bank.

Officials of the local bank not so long ago decided to use a drawing of Fort Cumberland as a background on their checks. Years ago a picture of the old fort was a trademark of the First National whose history goes back 143 years to 1811 when it was organized. Not so long ago the fort ceased to appear on the bank's checks.

During the summer The Todd Co., Inc. of Rochester, N.Y., was contacted to design a check on which Fort Cumberland would appear as a dim background. The Todd Company referred the designing to John Wenrich, now in Rochester.

"Why that's my native city," exclaimed the artist. "Just let me get at this job."

Wenrich, who did the architectural drawings for Williamsburg, Va. and Rockefeller Center, N.Y., is nationally known for his art work. He visits here at least once a year.

"I'm sure the picturization in this manner of old Fort Cumberland," he said, "will stimulate interest in the rich and eventful history of the Cumberland area."

First National officials point out that each check is seen by about 16 persons before it is finally cancelled or destroyed, and may travel hundreds of miles in the process. Thousands of people will thus be made aware of Cumberland.

The new check is functional as well as historical and artistic. Not only does the art work make it difficult to counterfeit and alter, but there is an invisible pattern of "void" markings under the picture of the fort and these markings become instantly visible if ink eradiator is used to change the signature or amount.

Governor To Lead GOP Caravan In County Tomorrow

Allegheny County Republicans will stage their biggest rally of the current political campaign on Tuesday evening with a public meeting at the Centre Street Methodist Church here. A caravan, complete with sound truck, floats, a German Band and numerous G.O.P. supporters will tour every town in the County beginning at 9 a. m., and winding up at the church here in the evening.

Governor Theodore R. McKeldin, Attorney General Edward D. E. Rollins, Congressman DeWitt S. Hyde and all of the local county candidates will participate in the tour. At each stop scheduled on the itinerary, short addresses will be given by the Governor, the Attorney General and the Congressmen.

Refreshments will be served during the evening rally at the Church and Governor McKeldin will make a 15 minute radio address from 7:15 until 7:30 p. m. The Froburg Women's Republican Club will be host to the entourage at a luncheon in honor of the candidates to be held at the Young Men's Republican Club in Froburg at 1:15 p. m. Mrs. Lucile Roeder, campaign chairman, stated that hundreds of persons interested in Republican victory on November 2 are planning to attend the Rally which will be open to the public.

The itinerary follows: 8:45 a. m., leave Fort Cumberland Hotel for Flintstone; 9 a. m., Flintstone; 9:45, Oldtown; 10:30, South Cumberland; 11, Cumberland upturn; 11:30, Corriantville; 12, Ellerslie; 12:45, Mt. Savage; 1:15, Frostburg; 2:30, Cresaptown; 3, McCoole; 3:30, Westport; 4, Luke; 4:30, Barton; 5, Lonaconing; 5:30, Midland; 6, Shaft, and 7 p. m. Rally Centre Street Methodist Church.

Retired Worker Given Watch

W. E. George, of Ridgeley, an electrical crane operator at the Cumberland backshops of the B&O Railroad has retired after many years service.

A native of Cumberland, he was born July 19, 1888 and his first job with the B&O was in the Maintenance of Way Department near North Branch.

In 1922 he was assigned to the operation of the 100-ton traveling crane which work he performed for eight years. From 1930 until his retirement he was in charge of operating the 25-ton crane in the tank shop. During the 32 years in which he operated the cranes he never had an accident nor a personal injury.

He was married in 1920 to Mary Williams and they had three children, W. E. George Jr., and Charles R. George, who reside in Washington, D. C., and Mrs. Mary Hedrick, Erie, Pa. Mrs. George died in 1943 and he later married Ida Lucille Day.

Hunter Slightly Hurt In Accidental Shooting

A 16-year-old local youth, Donald Clyde Appold of 937 Maryland Avenue, was accidentally shot in the lower left leg Saturday afternoon while hunting on Warrior Mountain. State Police said Appold was wounded by Paul Judy, 26, of Cumberland, who apparently mistook him for game. No charges were filed.

Authorities described Appold's wound as minor and said he did not require hospitalization.

83 Persons Get Therapy

Correctional therapy for those who stutter has been inaugurated here at the League for Crippled Children building, and the first monthly report shows a total active case load of 83 persons.

Peter B. Denison, speech correctionist for the League who is conducting the classes, said a breakdown of the total load shows 55 of the cases are students in parochial schools, 22 receive weekly treatments at the League headquarters, while the remaining six receive their treatments at their homes because of various reasons making it impossible for them to attend the sessions at League headquarters.

In all, Denison said he examined 99 individual cases during the first month. Eighty-seven were registered for treatments and 239 individual treatments were administered.

A special class is conducted at 10 a. m. each Saturday, Denison said, and any persons with the speech defect of stuttering may join this class next Saturday by appearing at League headquarters, City Hall Square, not later than 10 o'clock.

About 40 per cent of the crop income in Kentucky comes from tobacco.

SA Indicates Goal Reached

Oversubscription of the Salvation Army's fund campaign was anticipated in a statement Saturday by Capt. Daniel K. Biggs, commander of the local citadel.

At the last formal meeting of the campaign committee, Capt. Biggs revealed, an incomplete report indicated that the quota would be exceeded.

The reports, Capt. Biggs continued, placed donations and pledges within approximately $800 of the goal of $25,273, despite the fact that at least four sections had made no reports.

Since then, Capt. Biggs said, approximately half of the shortage has been made up, largely through the efforts of the Advance Gifts and Women's divisions.

The Classified Section, he continued, still lacks reports from the clothing, construction and automotive units. Reports are still out on the Kelly-Springfield, Western Maryland and B&O sections, and the combination of these reports is expected to place the total figure well above the goal quota.

General chairman of the fund campaign is Earl E. Manges.

Abandoned Buildings Will Be Torn Down

Two abandoned buildings in Vale Summit will be torn down because they are fire traps and health hazards.

J. Byron Dowling, state sanitarian for Allegheny County, appeared before the Allegheny County Board of Commissioners in connection with a check he and a fire inspector made of the old Ancient Order of Hibernians two-story frame structure which has not been used for many years.

The board then decided to have the old Vale Summit school building razed to eliminate the hazard from fire. Bids will be asked on the razing of the properties.

Chest Victory Dinner Set Tomorrow At Central YMCA

Solicitors for the 1955 Community Chest drive will have a victory dinner tomorrow at 6:15 p. m. in Central YMCA, William R. Carscaden, general chairman, announced Saturday night.

As of Friday, the total amount subscribed was $93,250.10 of the goal of $101,000, Carscaden said.

With all reports assured by tomorrow, success in the drive appears certain, the general chairman reported.

The advanced gifts section has reached 95.3 per cent of its goal with $53,416.78 of the $56,000 goal subscribed.

Next highest in solicitation is the classified section with 90.5 per cent or $30,785.35 of the $34,000 goal reached.

The sales army so far has reported $5,158.35 or its goal of $6,000 or 86 per cent while the residential section has accounted for $3,889.77 of its $5,000 goal.

Carscaden said if all solicitors account for all their cards distributed then the maximum amount will be reached.

Chest "Oscars" will be awarded to all captains and chairmen making goals, Carscaden added.

Allegheny Ballistics Laboratory has achieved 100 per cent of its goal; the team headed by John E. Geare in the classified section, 178 per cent; Simon Rosenbaum team, 123 per cent; Walter A. Fraley team, 131 per cent; T. Victor Fier team, 121 per cent; John Conway team, 113 per cent; Hal Barber team, 100 per cent; William Smith and W. E. Lawver team, 106 per cent; J. ## Mummers Parade Planned Friday

Reiterating that pre-Halloween vandals will be prosecuted, Chief of Police R. Emmett Flynn Saturday suggested that youngsters "settle down to harmless fun and don't engage in the malicious destruction of property."

Flynn pointed out that patrolmen will be on hand Friday night for the annual mummers' parade sponsored by the South Cumberland Business Men's Association.

Beginning at 7 o'clock, the line of march will move from Laing to Virginia Avenue, to First Street, turn right on First Street to Race Street and disband. Raymond Whitehair is parade marshal.

Featured will be the "Ridgeleyettes," a baton-twirling group composed of 50 youngsters, the "Toonerville" and Fort Hill High School senior and junior bands, dancing at the Acme Market on Virginia Avenue, a free cartoon show for children in Millenon's parking lot, and a band concert at Virginia Avenue School.

Prizes totaling $300 will be distributed to mummers, musical organizations and floats which use the Halloween theme. The judges' stand will be located at the Cumberland Savings Bank.

Nelson W. Russler will have charge of a talent show in front of the Russler-Chadwick Company Store on Virginia Avenue.

"So far, we've been fortunate," Flynn stated, adding that "there have been no serious pranks reported."

Plan Halloween Party

PIEDMONT — A Halloween party will be held following the business meeting of the Past Councilors of the Daughters of America Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Mary Wilt, 37 Jones Street.

Is Co-Chairman

Wayne Graham, Fourth street, Oakland, is co-chairman at West Virginia Wesleyan College, Buckhannon, for the annual homecoming dance to be held October 30.

Judging will be based on uniformity of drill, routine, marching and appearance, Pence said.

A trophy will be presented the school having the best all round performance and plaques will be given for those excelling in each of the four categories.

Bond To Be Given In Local Contest

As part of its 47th anniversary, the window of C. W. Webster and Son, wallpaper and paint dealers, 414 North Centre street, has a huge pile of wallpaper trimmings displayed. To the person guessing nearest the correct amount in feet and inches will be given a $25 U.S. Savings Bond.

Haschert To Speak

Walter Haschert Jr., manager of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company, will discuss "Dial Service Comes to Cumberland" at the Rotary Club meeting tomorrow at 12:15 p. m. in Central YMCA.

Attack On State University New Political Low Says Walsh

A vigorous reply to late attempts to belittle Dr. H. C. Byrd's administration as president of the University of Maryland was made Saturday by former Attorney General William C. Walsh, a member of the Byrd-For-Governor Advisory Committee. Said Walsh:

"The recent attempts of a few Republicans to attack Curley Byrd by casting reflections on the University of Maryland represents a new low in Maryland politics. Curley has devoted more than forty years of his life to the University, and he came up the hard way, starting as a teacher, and coach, and winding up as president."

"He became president in 1936 and served in that capacity until last January. As president he was responsible for the tremendous growth of the University during the past seventeen or eighteen years. When he left the University its building and other physical equipment represented an investment of about forty five million dollars of which about twenty three million came from State funds, while the remaining twenty two million represents Federal funds and private donations, secured by Dr. Byrd. In addition, the physical plant and equipment is now worth almost sixty million dollars, due to increase in value of buildings, etc. The result is that through the efforts of Curley Byrd the State of Maryland has a University worth fifty eight million dollars, which only cost the State twenty three million dollars."

"It should also be noted that when Dr. Byrd became president of the University in 1936, the total enrollment was less than four thousand, while for the school year 1952-53 the total enrollment exceeded twenty five thousand. Curley Byrd has thus made it possible for hundreds of thousands of Maryland boys and girls to secure a higher education and many of these came from families which could not have afforded to send their children to private colleges and universities."

"With regard to the scholastic standing of the University, it might be pointed out that the majority of Maryland doctors, dentists, and lawyers are graduates of the University's medical, dental and law schools, and many Marylanders in other professions are also graduates of the University. Certainly, no political motive can justify raising a question as to the standing and ability of these doctors and other professional men and women who were trained at the University, and certainly these graduates and their legions of friends throughout the State will resent this type of political attack."

"In this connection it seems significant that in the last State bar examination held in July and taken by law graduates for Harvard, Yale, the University of Virginia and from other law schools of National standing, the five young men who made the highest marks were all graduates of the University of Maryland Law School. Furthermore, although more than half of the 354 who took this examination failed to pass, approximately 90% of these years graduates of the University of Maryland Law School did pass."

"It goes without saying that improvements can still be made, as nothing in this world is perfect, but if as much improvement is made in the next 17 or 18 years as was made under Dr. Byrd, the University will lead the nation's educational institutions, and whatever happens can never detract from the monument which Curley built for Maryland."

Former Resident Authors 14-Page Magazine Story

The name of Allan C. Fisher, Jr. whose parents reside in LaVale, is rapidly becoming one of the most familiar to readers of The National Geographic Magazine.

A member of the editorial staff for the past three years, he is represented in the September issue as author of a 14 page feature story on George Eastman. There are 23 illustrations. Under the title of "Eastman of Rochester: Photographic Pioneer" appears this sub-head—"A Gifted Bank Clerk, Born a Century Ago, Revolutionized Picture Taking and Made Kodak a Household Name."

Fisher had a story in the July National Geographic on the Postal Service that brought so many requests for extra copies that the magazine issued a reprint of the local man's article in order to satisfy the demand from all over the United States. Eventually every post office in the country received a copy.

"Everyone's Servant, the Post Office" was the title and there were 37 illustrations, 26 of them in natural color. One group of pictures follows a rural carrier as he makes his rounds in nearby West Virginia.

A graduate of Allegheny High School, where he was editor of the Alumni Mirror, Fisher went on to the University of Maryland where he also edited the Diamond Back. His journalistic experience has included newspaper work and free lance writing. As a member of the National Geographic editorial staff he has won widespread recognition.

Ridgeley Pupils Plan Friday Event

Students of Ridgeley Elementary School will hold a Halloween Fun Night program Friday, beginning with a parade at 6:30 p. m.

The parade will form at Bane's store, proceed down Blocker Street, State Road and Third Avenue to the Rod and Gun Club where the program will be presented.

Prizes will be awarded for the funniest, ugliest, prettiest and most original costumes and booths for candy and hot dogs will be available. A guess cake and cake walk will also be featured. Judges for the costumes will be Melvin M. Heiskel, Marion Dorsey and Mrs. Flossie Flanagan.

A meeting of the committees in charge will be held tomorrow at 7 p. m. at the school building.

Cub Scouts Visit Police, Fire Stations

Cub Scout Pack No. 23, sponsored by the John Humbird Parent Teacher Association, toured Central Fire Station and the Public Safety Building Saturday.

The 25 youngsters were taken through the fire company station at City Hall Plaza by Herman Cunningham and Raymond Leiding, city firemen.

Officers John Henry Stitzer and Richard Lashley conducted the tour of the police headquarters. George Warner, William Taylor, Robert Edwards and William B. Orndorff, officers of the Cub Pack, accompanied the group on the tour.

Suffers Injury

Francesco Fragomeni, 73, of 230 Paca Street, was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital Saturday afternoon for X-rays and observation of an injury to his left ankle suffered while alighting from a car. Attaches reported him in "good" condition.

A 16-year-old local youth, Donald Clyde Appold of 937 Maryland Avenue, was accidentally shot in the lower left leg Saturday afternoon while hunting on Warrior Mountain.

State Police said Appold was wounded by Paul Judy, 26, of Cumberland, who apparently mistook him for game. No charges were filed.

Authorities described Appold's wound as minor and said he did not require hospitalization.

New Check Design Adopted By Local Bank

An unusual combination of a Cumberland bank and a Cumberland-born artist has come to light in connection with a new check design adopted by the First National Bank.

Officials of the local bank not so long ago decided to use a drawing of Fort Cumberland as a background on their checks. Years ago a picture of the old fort was a trademark of the First National whose history goes back 143 years to 1811 when it was organized. Not so long ago the fort ceased to appear on the bank's checks.

During the summer The Todd Co., Inc. of Rochester, N.Y., was contacted to design a check on which Fort Cumberland would appear as a dim background. The Todd Company referred the designing to John Wenrich, now in Rochester.

Wenrich, who did the architectural drawings for Williamsburg, Va. and Rockefeller Center, N.Y., is nationally known for his art work. He visits here at least once a year.

"I'm sure the picturization in this manner of old Fort Cumberland," he said, "will stimulate interest in the rich and eventful history of the Cumberland area."

First National officials point out that each check is seen by about 16 persons before it is finally cancelled or destroyed, and may travel hundreds of miles in the process. Thousands of people will thus be made aware of Cumberland.

The new check is functional as well as historical and artistic. Not only does the art work make it difficult to counterfeit and alter, but there is an invisible pattern of "void" markings under the picture of the fort and these markings become instantly visible if ink eradicator is used to change the signature or amount.

Governor To Lead GOP Caravan In County Tomorrow

Allegheny County Republicans will stage their biggest rally of the current political campaign on Tuesday evening with a public meeting at the Centre Street Methodist Church here. A caravan, complete with sound truck, floats, a German Band and numerous G.O.P. supporters will tour every town in the County beginning at 9 a. m., and winding up at the church here in the evening.

Governor Theodore R. McKeldin, Attorney General Edward D. E. Rollins, Congressman DeWitt S. Hyde and all of the local county candidates will participate in the tour. At each stop scheduled on the itinerary, short addresses will be given by the Governor, the Attorney General and the Congressman.

Refreshments will be served during the evening rally at the Church and Governor McKeldin will make a 15 minute radio address from 7:15 until 7:30 p. m. The Froburg Women's Republican Club will be host to the entourage at a luncheon in honor of the candidates to be held at the Young Men's Republican Club in Froburg at 1:15 p. m. Mrs. Lucile Roeder, campaign chairman, stated that hundreds of persons interested in Republican victory on November 2 are planning to attend the Rally which will be open to the public.

SA Indicates Goal Reached

Oversubscription of the Salvation Army's fund campaign was anticipated in a statement Saturday by Capt. Daniel K. Biggs, commander of the local citadel.

At the last formal meeting of the campaign committee, Capt. Biggs revealed, an incomplete report indicated that the quota would be exceeded.

The reports, Capt. Biggs continued, placed donations and pledges within approximately $800 of the goal of $25,273, despite the fact that at least four sections had made no reports.

Since then, Capt. Biggs said, approximately half of the shortage has been made up, largely through the efforts of the Advance Gifts and Women's divisions.

The Classified Section, he continued, still lacks reports from the clothing, construction and automotive units.

Reports are still out on the Kelly-Springfield, Western Maryland and B&O sections, and the combination of these reports is expected to place the total figure well above the goal quota.

General chairman of the fund campaign is Earl E. Manges.

Abandoned Buildings Will Be Torn Down

Two abandoned buildings in Vale Summit will be torn down because they are fire traps and health hazards.

J. Byron Dowling, state sanitarian for Allegheny County, appeared before the Allegheny County Board of Commissioners in connection with a check he and a fire inspector made of the old Ancient Order of Hibernians two-story frame structure which has not been used for many years.

The board then decided to have the old Vale Summit school building razed to eliminate the hazard from fire. Bids will be asked on the razing of the properties.

Local Banker Named To Executive Post

At last week's annual convention of the American Bankers Association at Atlantic City, Joseph M. Naughton, president of the Second National Bank of Cumberland, was elected to a three year term on the executive committee of the Association's Trust Division. This group is the top administrative head of the Association's activities with respect to the settlement and administration of trusts and estates.

Naughton was also reappointed to membership on the Association's Committee on Trust Policies and to the Committee on Federal Legislation.

McKeldin Calls Byrd 'Campus Chameleon'

[By The Associated Press]

Gov. McKeldin, pressing his campaign for reelection, hung a new tag on his Democratic opponent, Dr. H. C. Byrd, Sunday—"The Chameleon of the Campus."

And Byrd, former president of the University of Maryland, announced with an air of dignity that he wasn't going to call anyone names. "It is significant," he said, "that when you have no argument, no grounds on which to stand, you resort to abuse."

The Republican governor showed up an hour and a half late for a rally at La Plata. He explained that he had gotten away late from Frederick where he helped dedicate a monument to Roger Brooke Taney, fifth Chief Justice of the United States.

Rep. Small, seeking re-election in the Fifth District, spoke for almost 40 minutes and then told the crowd he was sorry the governor had not shown up. He said he would like to speak longer, but was prevented by a bad throat.

Many among the crowd of about 600 had drifted out of the tobacco warehouse where the rally took place, but returned when McKeldin appeared.

He said: "The chameleon of the campus, who is my opponent, changes not only the tone of his tirades, according to the environment in which he is speaking, but also the circumstances of his senses to suit a given situation.

"He forgets when forgetting is convenient."

"He's deaf when he's afraid to hear."

"He's blind to that which he doesn't want to see."

McKeldin said Byrd had forgotten "conveniently" that it was him, not his predecessor, former Gov. Lane, who budgeted funds to plan a new library for the University of Maryland.

The governor said Byrd's hearing is impaired "when I challenge him to express himself on the true issues of the campaign."

He added: "Although scurrilous literature for sneak distribution lay openly in proof form on a desk in his political headquarters, his power of preception through sight suddenly seemed to leave him when the press called the matter to his attention."

The governor accused his opponent of destroying the merit system at the university after being given control over salaries of faculty members. McKeldin said:

"If this power-addicted dictator were to become the Chief Executive Officer of the State government, he would leave no stone unturned to destroy the Merit System throughout the departments and institutions of the State."

Saar Deal Faces Possible German Court Challenge

BONN, Germany, Oct. 24 (AP)—Disgruntled Bonn politicians today pondered challenging the legality of the French-German deal over the Saar, a foundation stone of the Paris agreements on freeing and rearming West Germany.

Concessions reported made by Chancellor Konrad Adenauer in agreeing to Europeanization of the disputed border state—German in language and French in economic ties—angered both the Socialist and some Free Democrat supporters of his coalition government.

Dr. Thomas Dehler, chairman of the Free Democrats, indicated his party may try to take the issue to the Supreme Court. The Free Democrats rank second only to Adenauer's Christian Democrats in the coalition. Addressing a Free Democratic convention in Wetzlar, Dehler said the Saar accord possibly violated the Bonn constitution because it might, in effect, prevent the reunification of Germany.

A court test would threaten a new delay in lining up West Germany as a sovereign ally in the Western defenses against Communist aggression, perhaps halting for months the whole process of ratification within West Germany.

Dehler's threat indicated the Socialists, foes of rearmament who have come out flatly against the Saar accord, might pick up enough votes in Parliament to make it a constitutional issue.

ness with a government contract will have to post.

Recently his committee distributed 500,000 copies of a pamphlet, "Equal Job Opportunity Is Good Business." This pamphlet describes the functions of the Government Contract Committee, explains the non-discrimination clause in government contracts, and points out what benefits non-discrimination brings to workers, to employers, and to our nation.

Gains Already Made

There have been significant gains made with respect to the integrating of employees in the offices of the telephone companies in the District, and the committee is presently working for the integration of workers in the transit company.

The committee has helped break down discrimination at atomic energy plants at Paducah, Ky., and the hydrogen plant at Savannah River, Ga., where for the first time Negroes are employed.

In Cleveland an aircraft supplier agreed to give Negro women production jobs as a result of the committee's work. In Chicago, in a dozen cases, discriminatory questions were taken out of job application forms.

The moves to end segregation in the armed forces and in all military establishments have been equally unequivocal and direct. It is nearly complete. There has been no backtracking, ducking or slowdown in this effort. The importance of this is enormous. The experience of millions of young men in the armed forces rubbing elbows, matching skills and working together without regard to race or religion is providing basic training in a new and more democratic kind of citizenship that will have a profound effect on the racial attitudes of the coming generations of our nation's leadership.

Although the President has a great and profound concern for the problems of Negroes and all other minorities in American life, he is fighting discrimination because he sees it as a threat to our freedom, our security and our national strength and unity. He is no special pleader. Minority groups do not want special pleading. They want only an equal chance. This he is determined to use every effort to assure. President Eisenhower believes that this country cannot take its place as the first nation of the world unless all of its citizens enjoy the same rights, privileges and opportunities.

Nixon Says GOP Campaign Moving At Correct Tempo

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Oct. 24 (AP)—Vice President Nixon said today that the "Republican campaign for the election of an Eisenhower Congress is in exactly the right position for such a campaign to be at this point."

He told newsmen it is a mistake to "peak" it too fast.

"The Republican campaign," he said, "has been gaining in intensity and interest and if this keeps up the Republicans will win the Senate and keep the House."

When asked about the recent withdrawal of Rep. Stringfellow (R-Utah) from the Republican ticket the vice president said:

"I believe that Mr. Stringfellow and the Republican party of Utah made the right decision when Stringfellow's name was withdrawn from the ticket."

U.N. Group Will Press For Vote On Arms Talks

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Oct. 24 (AP)—Undeterred by a new Moscow blast, the U.N. Assembly Political Committee planned to press for a quick vote tomorrow on a proposal to set up secret five-power disarmament talks again.

Veteran delegates expected Russia's Andrei Vishinsky to repeat the newest Moscow denunciation when he speaks tomorrow but they did not look for him to pull out of the agreement he reached Friday to join in sponsoring the new talks.

In the note issued yesterday to the Western Big Three, the Soviet Union called for a new parity on unifying Germany and added:

"It is impossible to propose a general reduction of armaments and at the same time carry out remilitarization of Western Germany."

An American source reiterated that Vishinsky's agreement to join the United States, Britain, France and Canada in sponsoring the resolution on the new talks marked an important procedural step, but only a procedural step.

Stolen Fire Engine Found By Searchers

TOWNSEND, Mass., Oct. 24 (AP)—A thief made off with this town's biggest thing on wheels today—a bright red, 14-ton fire engine.

It began when the engine, bells clanging and siren screaming, went careening out of the fire house. There wasn't a fire, so Fire Chief Daniel Ormsby called police.

Four hours later weary police and other searchers found the engine deep in the woods of nearby Ashby. A short distance from the gleaming apparatus police sighted a house. They knocked on the door and a man who identified himself through blinks and yawns as Thomas Walker, 21, responded.

Police Chief Donald Morse asked some questions. The answers didn't satisfy the police chief and Walker was booked on charges of breaking and entering in the nighttime and larceny of a fire engine. He will appear in Ayer Court tomorrow.

Sheppard's Trial May Bring Cross Examiners' Duel

CLEVELAND, Oct. 24 (AP)—Dr. Samuel Sheppard's first degree murder trial resumes tomorrow. It is shaping up as a classic duel of cross examiners.

The state is eager to get at the 30-year-old osteopath if and when he takes the witness stand to defend himself against a charge that he beat his wife, Marilyn, 31, to death last July 4. She was four months pregnant.

"Whatever happened on that night Dr. Sheppard will have to tell us," said Asst. Prosecutor John J. Mahon over the weekend. "If we get him on cross examination he'll be asked about everything."

The defense claims as of now it plans to put Sheppard on the stand. However, the way has been left open for a change of mind.

The defense, meanwhile, is equally eager to cross examine pretty Susan Hayes, 24, the state's star witness against Sheppard. She purportedly has admitted intimacies with the defendant. The alleged love affair is about the best motive the state can offer in trying to prove Sheppard killed his wife.

A defense source revealed that its lawyers have yet to question Susan, cute, one-time technician in the osteopathic hospital where Sheppard practiced. Her family refused to allow defense lawyers to approach the girl and her story never has been tested under the whiplash of unsympathetic questions.

Sheppard has claimed that a bushy-haired intruder killed his wife in her bedroom last Independence Day and knocked him unconscious when he came to her aid.

"Witness" Is Charged With Slaying Grocer

BALTIMORE, Oct. 24 (AP)—Alfonso Hill, 52, who told police he witnessed the slaying of a grocer early Saturday, was charged today with committing the crime.

Hill, a junkman, was accused of shooting 62-year-old Frank Liemkuhler and attempting to rob him. Chief Magistrate William F. Laukaitis ordered him held without bail pending a hearing.

Liemkuhler, who was known to carry large sums of money, was found fatally wounded on the floor of his grocery early Saturday by a woman customer. Another customer, Mrs. Ella Bell, recalled seeing a junk wagon near the store about the time of the killing.

Civilian Population Of U.S. Estimated At 159,084,000

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (AP)—The Census Bureau estimated today that the nation had a civilian population last July 1 of 159,084,000.

The figure, which did not include members of the armed forces, represented an increase of 6.3 per cent since the last full census April 1, 1950. The civilian population then was 149,634,000. Total population as of July 1, this year, including the armed forces, was estimated at 162,414,000.

The totals were included in the bureau's annual estimate of population growth by regions, states and territories.

All but three of the 48 states—West Virginia, Arkansas and New Hampshire—had civilian population gains from April 1, 1950 to July 1, 1954.

Eight showed growth of more than 10 per cent and five of less than 1 per cent.

Nevada, with a 33.1 per cent increase, led all states in percentage of gain. It increased from 157,000 persons to 209,000.

West Virginia lost 2.9 per cent of its population, Arkansas 0.9 per cent and New Hampshire 0.7 per cent.

Among the nation's four main regions, the South was estimated to have had the biggest civilian population on July 1 this year—49,214,000, an increase of 5.5 per cent.

The West was the smallest, with 21,940,000 civilians, but had had the biggest percentage gain—13.9 per cent.

The North Central states, with 46,901,000 persons, showed a gain of 5.7 per cent and the Northeast states, with 41,029,000, gained 4.3 per cent.

The July 1 estimates and the gains or decreases by states include:

Maryland 2,522,000, gain 216,000; Virginia 3,418,000, gain 197,000; West Virginia 1,946,000, decrease 59,000; Tennessee 3,344,000, gain 63,000; and District of Columbia 820,000, gain 51,000.

Much Of U.S. Enjoys Indian Summer Treat

[By The Associated Press]

Snow piled up in sections of Montana Sunday as rain pelted Texas coastal areas—but much of the rest of the nation enjoyed an Indian summer treat.

While a backlog of four inches of snow accumulated at Ely and Lewistown, Mont., overnight temperatures zoomed 10 to 22 degrees above normal in New England.

The snow in the northern Rockies also visited areas of northern Utah, Nevada and Colorado.

The snow, accompanied by cold air, pushed minimum mercury readings from 5 to 18 degrees lower than normal Saturday night over most of the northern Rockies, the Plateau States and Western Plains. Readings hovered from 20 to 30 degrees in most areas.

The Eastern Seaboard, with New England in particular, also basked in bright and pleasant weather.

The Basic Idea Behind the All-New 1955 PONTIAC

On Display October 29 and 30

ABOUT 30 years ago General Motors Corporation presented to America a new car called Pontiac. This new car was the direct result of a very specific idea.

The idea was this: to create a car which took its style, its engineering principles and its features from the very best and most expensive in America—and to build these into a car priced just above the very lowest!

Naturally, such an idea produced a wonderful and highly popular car—a car which millions of satisfied owners have driven with outstanding pride and pleasure.

Now, nearly three decades later, an entirely new Pontiac has been created for 1955—a car completely new from the ground up!

One thing, however, about the 1955 Pontiac remains unchanged—its basic idea—to offer the American public the very finest car that can possibly be built to sell at a price within easy reach of any new-car buyer.

When you see the new Pontiac on Friday, or Saturday—Oct. 29 or 30—you will be immediately impressed by its remarkable new styling. No other car in the world looks like this new Pontiac!

When you drive it you will be astonished at its performance. For the 1955 Pontiac introduces the powerful new Strato-Streak V-8, an all-new engine that has already been proved in more than 3 million test miles!

When you price the new Pontiac you will come face to face with the basic Pontiac idea—you will be agreeably surprised that so much car, so much sparkling newness, so much luxury, so much downright goodness can be priced so near the very lowest.

We cordially invite you to come in on Friday or Saturday and see for yourself what a superb all-new General Motors masterpiece has been created to carry the wonderful name "Pontiac" for 1955.

Saar Deal Faces Possible German Court Challenge

BONN, Germany, Oct. 24 (AP)—Disgruntled Bonn politicians today pondered challenging the legality of the French-German deal over the Saar, a foundation stone of the Paris agreements on freeing and rearming West Germany.

Concessions reported made by Chancellor Konrad Adenauer in agreeing to Europeanization of the disputed border state—German in language and French in economic ties—angered both his Socialist foes and some Free Democrat supporters of his coalition government.

Dr. Thomas Dehler, chairman of the Free Democrats, indicated his party may try to take the issue to the Supreme Court. The Free Democrats rank second only to Adenauer's Christian Democrats in the coalition. Addressing a Free Democratic convention in Wetzlar, Dehler said the Saar accord possibly violated the Bonn constitution because it might, in effect, prevent the reunification of Germany.

A court test would threaten a new delay in lining up West Germany as a sovereign ally in the Western defenses against Communist aggression, perhaps halting for months the whole process of ratification within West Germany.

Dehler's threat indicated the Socialists, foes of rearmament who have come out flatly against the Saar accord, might pick up enough votes in Parliament to make it a constitutional issue.

ness with a government contract will have to post.

Recently his committee distributed 500,000 copies of a pamphlet, “Equal Job Opportunity Is Good Business.” This pamphlet describes the functions of the Government Contract Committee, explains the non-discrimination clause in government contracts, and points out what benefits non-discrimination brings to workers, to employers, and to our nation.

There have been significant gains made with respect to the integrating of employees in the offices of the telephone companies in the District, and the committee is presently working for the integration of workers in the transit company.

The committee has helped break down discrimination at atomic energy plants at Paducah, Ky., and the hydrogen plant at Savannah River, Ga., where for the first time Negroes are employed.

In Cleveland an aircraft supplier agreed to give Negro women production jobs as a result of the committee's work. In Chicago, in a dozen cases, discriminatory questions were taken out of job application forms.

The moves to end segregation in the armed forces and in all military establishments have been equally unequivocal and direct. It is nearly complete. There has been no backtracking, ducking or slowdown in this effort. The importance of this is enormous. The experience of millions of young men in the armed forces rubbing elbows, matching skills and working together without regard to race or religion is providing basic training in a new and more democratic kind of citizenship that will have a profound effect on the racial attitudes of the coming generations of our nation's leadership.

Although the President has a great and profound concern for the problems of Negroes and all other minorities in American life, he is fighting discrimination because he sees it as a threat to our freedom, our security and our national strength and unity. He is no special pleader. Minority groups do not want special pleading. They want only an equal chance. This he is determined to use every effort to assure. President Eisenhower believes that this country cannot take its place as the first nation of the world unless all of its citizens enjoy the same rights, privileges and opportunities.

Nixon Says GOP Campaign Moving At Correct Tempo

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Oct. 24 (AP)—Vice President Nixon said today that the “Republican” campaign for the election of an Eisenhower Congress is in exactly the right position for such a campaign to be at this point.

He told newsmen it is a mistake to “peak” it too fast. “The Republican campaign,” he said, “has been gaining in intensity and interest and if this keeps up the Republicans will win the Senate and keep the House.”

When asked about the recent withdrawal of Rep. Stringfellow (R-Utah) from the Republican ticket the vice president said:

“I believe that Mr. Stringfellow and the Republican party of Utah made the right decision when Stringfellow's name was withdrawn from the ticket.”

“A man who represents the American people in the House or Senate must maintain a standard of conduct as to integrity and honesty that is above reproach.

“On Stringfellow's own admission, he did not measure up to this standard of conduct, and consequently, his resignation from the ticket was proper.”

“I believe that his example should apply to all candidates for office, Democratic and Republican alike.”

Stringfellow resigned after admitting in a TV-radio appearance he had fabricated a story of leading a daring parachute mission behind German lines and capturing a German scientist during World War II.

The vice president spoke of Rep. Condon (D-Calif.) saying Condon had been “banned from witnessing atomic tests because of participation in Communist activities.”

Condon has denied such participation.

U.N. Group Will Press For Vote On Arms Talks

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Oct. 24 (AP)—Undeterred by a new Moscow blast, the U.N. Assembly Political Committee planned to press for a quick vote tomorrow on a proposal to set up secret five-power disarmament talks again.

Veteran delegates expected Russia's Andrei Vishinsky to repeat the newest Moscow denunciation when he speaks tomorrow but they did not look for him to pull out of the agreement he reached Friday to join in sponsoring the new talks.

In the note issued yesterday to the Western Big Three, the Soviet Union called for a new parity on unifying Germany and added: “It is impossible to propose a general reduction of armaments and at the same time carry out remilitarization of Western Germany.”

An American source reiterated that Vishinsky's agreement to join the United States, Britain, France and Canada in sponsoring the resolution on the new talks marked an important procedural step, but only a procedural step.

Stolen Fire Engine Found By Searchers

TOWNSEND, Mass., Oct. 24 (AP)—A thief made off with this town's biggest thing on wheels today—a bright red, 14-ton fire engine.

It began when the engine, bells clanging and siren screaming, went careening out of the fire house. There wasn't a fire, so Fire Chief Daniel Ormsby called police.

Four hours later weary police and other searchers found the engine deep in the woods of nearby Ashby. A short distance from the gleaming apparatus police sighted a house. They knocked on the door and a man who identified himself through blinks and yawns as Thomas Walker, 21, responded.

Police Chief Donald Morse asked some questions. The answers didn't satisfy the police chief and Walker was booked on charges of breaking and entering in the nighttime and larceny of a fire engine. He will appear in Ayer Court tomorrow.

Sheppard's Trial May Bring Cross Examiners' Duel

CLEVELAND, Oct. 24 (AP)—Dr. Samuel Sheppard's first degree murder trial resumes tomorrow. It is shaping up as a classic duel of cross examiners.

The state is eager to get at the 30-year-old osteopath if and when he takes the witness stand to defend himself against a charge that he beat his wife, Marilyn, 31, to death last July 4. She was four months pregnant.

“Whatever happened on that night Dr. Sheppard will have to tell us,” said Asst. Prosecutor John J. Mahon over the weekend. “If we get him on cross examination he'll be asked about everything.”

The defense claims as of now it plans to put Sheppard on the stand. However, the way has been left open for a change of mind.

The defense, meanwhile, is equally eager to cross examine pretty Susan Hayes, 24, the state's star witness against Sheppard. She purportedly has admitted intimacies with the defendant. The alleged love affair is about the motive the state can offer in trying to prove Sheppard killed his wife.

A defense source revealed that his lawyers have yet to question Susan, cute, one-time technician in the osteopathic hospital where Sheppard practiced. Her family refused to allow defense lawyers to approach the girl and her story never has been tested under the whiplash of unsympathetic questions.

Sheppard has claimed that a bushy-haired intruder killed his wife in her bedroom last Independence Day and knocked him unconscious when he came to her aid.

“Witness” Is Charged With Slaying Grocer

BALTIMORE, Oct. 24 (AP)—Alfonso Hill, 52, who told police he witnessed the slaying of a grocer early Saturday, was charged today with committing the crime.

Hill, a junkman, was accused of shooting 62-year-old Frank Liemkuhler and attempting to rob him. Chief Magistrate William F. Laukaitis ordered him held without bail pending a hearing.

Liemkuhler, who was known to carry large sums of money, was found fatally wounded on the floor of his grocery early Saturday by a woman customer. Another customer, Mrs. Ella Bell, recalled seeing a junk wagon near the store about the time of the killing.

Civilian Population Of U.S. Estimated At 159,084,000

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (AP)—The Census Bureau estimated today that the nation had a civilian population last July 1 of 159,084,000.

The figure, which did not include members of the armed forces, represented an increase of 6.3 per cent since the last full census April 1, 1950. The civilian population then was 149,634,000. Total population as of July 1, this year, including the armed forces, was estimated at 162,414,000.

The totals were included in the bureau's annual estimate of population growth by regions, states and territories.

All but three of the 48 states—West Virginia, Arkansas and New Hampshire—had civilian population gains from April 1, 1950 to July 1, 1954.

Eight showed growth of more than 10 per cent and five of less than 1 per cent.

Nevada, with a 33.1 per cent increase, led all states in percentage of gain. It increased from 137,000 persons to 209,000.

West Virginia lost 2.9 per cent of its population, Arkansas 0.9 per cent and New Hampshire 0.7 per cent.

Among the nation's four main regions, the South was estimated to have had the biggest civilian population on July 1 this year—49,214,000, an increase of 5.5 per cent.

The West was the smallest, with 21,940,000 civilians, but had the biggest percentage gain—13.9 per cent.

The North Central states, with 46,901,000 persons, showed a gain of 5.7 per cent and the Northeast states, with 41,029,000, gained 4.3 per cent.

The July 1 estimates and the gains or decreases by states include:

Maryland 2,522,000, gain 216,000; Virginia 3,418,000, gain 197,000; West Virginia 1,946,000, decrease 59,000; Tennessee 3,344,000, gain 63,000, and District of Columbia 820,000, gain 51,000.

Much Of U.S. Enjoys Indian Summer Treat

[By The Associated Press]

Snow piled up in sections of Montana Sunday as rain pelted Texas coastal areas—but much of the rest of the nation enjoyed an Indian summer treat.

While a backlog of four inches of snow accumulated at Ely and Lewistown, Mont., overnight temperatures zoomed 10 to 22 degrees above normal in New England.

The snow in the northern Rockies also visited areas of northern Utah, Nevada and Colorado.

The snow, accompanied by cold air, pushed minimum mercury readings from 5 to 18 degrees lower than normal Saturday night over most of the northern Rockies, the Plateau States and Western Plains. Readings hovered from 20 to 30 degrees in most areas.

The Eastern Seaboard, with New England in particular, also basked in bright and pleasant weather.

The Basic Idea Behind the All-New 1955 PONTIAC

On Display October 29 and 30

ABOUT 30 years ago General Motors Corporation presented to America a new car called Pontiac. This new car was the direct result of a very specific idea.

The idea was this: to create a car which took its style, its engineering principles and its features from the very best and most expensive in America—and to build these into a car priced just above the very lowest!

Naturally, such an idea produced a wonderful and highly popular car—a car which millions of satisfied owners have driven with outstanding pride and pleasure.

Now, nearly three decades later, an entirely new Pontiac has been created for 1955—a car completely new from the ground up!

One thing, however, about the 1955 Pontiac remains unchanged—its basic idea—to offer the American public the very finest car that can possibly be built to sell at a price within easy reach of any new-car buyer.

When you see the new Pontiac on Friday or Saturday—Oct. 29 or 30—you will be immediately impressed by its remarkable new styling. No other car in the world looks like this new Pontiac!

When you drive it you will be astonished at its performance. For the 1955 Pontiac introduces the powerful new Strato-Streak V-8, an all-new engine that has already been proved in more than 3 million test miles!

When you price the new Pontiac you will come face to face with the basic Pontiac idea—you will be agreeably surprised that so much car, so much sparkling newness, so much luxury, so much downright goodness can be priced so near the very lowest.

We cordially invite you to come in on Friday or Saturday and see for yourself what a superb all-new General Motors masterpiece has been created to carry the wonderful name “Pontiac” for 1955.

Former Hambleton Resident Marries In Euclid, Ohio

PARSONS — Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Herendeen of Euclid, Ohio, have announced the marriage of their daughter, Mary Ann, to Vernon Keister Buckbee, son of Mrs. Bessie Cassidy of Hambleton and the late Vernon Buckbee.

The double ring ceremony was solemnized in the St. Paul's Catholic Church in Euclid, on Saturday morning September 25 with the Rev. Father Butler officiating.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of Chantilly lace and nylon net over taffeta and long pointed sleeves. Her veil was attached to a small cap of lace and sequins. Her bridal bouquet was of white roses.

Jack Herendeen, brother of the bride, served the bridegroom as best man and usher was David Dunbar, both of Euclid.

A breakfast was held for the bridal party following the wedding and a reception was held on Saturday evening with Mrs. Herendeen, mother of the bride, receiving guests in a brown dress with which she wore beige accessories. Mrs. Cassidy chose a grey crepe dress with black accessories. Both wore corsages of yellow roses.

The couple are now residing in Cleveland, where he has been employed for the past six years.

Bretz PTA Makes Lunch Program Plans

PARSONS — The Parent Teacher Association of Bretz School made several plans for the coming year at their first meeting held at the school. Officers for this year are Clell Simmons, president; Mrs. Madeline Miller, teacher, as the vice president; Mrs. Kathleen Syman, secretary; Harvey Vest, treasurer and Mrs. Helen Simmons, historian.

The Association made plans for a Halloween party.

Last year more than 87 persons appeared at the party in costume and that record is hoped to be broken this year. The school and the association are also making their plans this year for a hot lunch center at the school. They have already installed cabinets, dishes, and sink for their kitchen and plan to have folding tables made. As soon as a well is dug for the school a hot lunch center will be opened and those plans are now formulated. The PTA is also planning to purchase a piano for the school.

Judge Issues Ruling In Gas Lease Case

A deed executed by a husband in a property owned jointly with his wife is not valid if she does not sign the lease, Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris ruled in a Garrett County gas field case.

And after their divorce, the husband's half in the property cannot fall under the terms of the original lease as it was not valid to begin with, Judge Harris ruled.

The Garrett County case involving property in District 8 arose when Columbia Carbon Company filed a suit in equity against Edward G. Kight, Maggie Kight, Evelyn Kight, Pierce H. Warsaw and Ray Kight.

The bill of Complaint alleges that by deed dated July 5, 1946, Pierce H. and Evelyn (Kight) Warsaw acquired as tenants by entireties a tract of 113½ acres.

On February 24, 1953, Warsaw signed a gas lease for five years with Columbia Carbon Company or as long as there was drilling on the 113½ acre tract.

The lease carried a provision that if the lessor owned a less interest in the oil and gas in the tract than the entire fee simple estate, then the rentals and royalties should be paid to the lessor only in proportion to which the lessor's interest was a part of the whole fee.

On June 22, 1953, the opinion stated, the couple was divorced and they shared the tract as tenants in common.

On December 29, 1953, Warsaw and his divorced wife conveyed the property to Edward G. Kight. Then the undivided half interest of the property was conveyed to Mrs. Warsaw by Kight.

Sometime afterward, the opinion noted, an attempt was made to lease the oil and gas rights under the property to Ray Kight.

The sole question raised by the demurrer was whether the title which Warsaw acquired upon the granting of the absolute divorce insured to the benefit of the Columbia Carbon Corporation.

The judge then ruled to sustain the demurrer filed by the defendants.

Attorneys for the Kights and Warsaw were Neil C. Fraley of Oakland and Walter C. Capper, this city.

Representing the corporation were E. R. Jones and Lewis R. Jones, both of Oakland.

Potomac State Holds Annual Homecoming

The annual homecoming celebration at Potomac State College, Keyser, ended Saturday with a dinner and dance, the former being marked by an election of officers by the Alumni Association of the college.

Elected were: Dr. Donald Kiser, of Keyser, re-elected president; Dr. Roy Harmon, Petersburg, W. Va., vice president; Kenneth Haines, a member of the faculty of the college, secretary, and Mrs. Donald Kiser, treasurer. Officials noted there are between 3,000 and 4,000 members in the alumni group.

Other homecoming highlights included the football game between Potomac State and Shepherd College, with the Catamounts defeating the Rams, 13-7.

The alumni dinner was held in Davis Hall. Dr. E. E. Church, president, outlined plans for an addition to Davis Hall. The toastmaster was Dr. Kiser.

A parade, sponsored by the Circle K Club of the college, was held through downtown Keyser prior to the football game. It was led by the new Potomac State Military Band. Halftime ceremonies at the game were featured by the presentation of the Homecoming Queen, Janet Thayer of Arlington, Va.

Miss Thayer, who thus became "Miss Catamount XVI," was introduced by Clinton Rogers, president of the Student Body. Col. Paul Homan, commander of the Potomac State ROTC Battalion, proclaimed Miss Thayer an honorary Cadet Lieutenant Colonel for the day.

The Homecoming Ball was held in the college gymnasium, with music by the Jimmy Andrews orchestra of Cumberland.

Judge Issues Ruling In Gas Lease Case

A deed executed by a husband in a property owned jointly with his wife is not valid if she does not sign the lease, Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris ruled in a Garrett County gas field case.

After their divorce, the husband's half in the property cannot fall under the terms of the original lease as it was not valid to begin with, Judge Harris ruled.

The Garrett County case involving property in District 8 arose when Columbia Carbon Company filed a suit in equity against Edward G. Kight, Maggie Kight, Evelyn Kight, Pierce H. Warsaw and Ray Kight.

The bill of Complaint alleges that by deed dated July 5, 1946, Pierce H. and Evelyn (Kight) Warsaw acquired as tenants by entireties a tract of 113½ acres.

On February 24, 1953, Warsaw signed a gas lease for five years with Columbia Carbon Company or as long as there was drilling on the 113½ acre-tract.

The lease carried a provision that if the lessor owned a less interest in the oil and gas in the tract than the entire fee simple estate, then the rentals and royalties should be paid to the lessor in proportion to which the lessor's interest was a part of the whole fee.

On June 22, 1953, the opinion stated, the couple was divorced and they shared the tract as tenants in common.

On December 29, 1953, Warsaw and his divorced wife conveyed the property to Edward G. Kight. Then the undivided half interest of the property was conveyed to Mrs. Warsaw by Kight.

Sometime afterward, the opinion noted, an attempt was made to lease the oil and gas rights under the property to Ray Kight.

The sole question raised by the demurrer was whether the title which Warsaw acquired upon the granting of the absolute divorce inured to the benefit of the Columbia Carbon Corporation.

The judge then ruled to sustain the demurrer filed by the defendants.

The Velvet Glove Creates Problems

The new velvet-glove policy of the Soviet Union is again evident in A. A. Vishinsky's placid acceptance of Russia's defeat on Trieste. That the Trieste settlement was a defeat for Soviet policy is obvious. The settlement was sponsored unilaterally by the West in an area in which Russia had previously been given a voice—a voice which she had used to prevent a settlement as long as she could.

Only last year Vishinsky ranted in the U. N. Security Council against the British-American decision to withdraw occupation troops in order to facilitate a settlement. He said then that Russia would never agree. Now he philosophically states in a letter to the current Security Council president that the Trieste settlement will promote normal relations between Italy and Yugoslavia and thus contribute to a relaxation of tension.

So it is again evident that the Kremlin, though as hostile as ever toward the United States, is working hard to improve relations with other countries and to undo some of Stalin's mistakes. One of Stalin's worst blunders was his attempt to overthrow Tito of Yugoslavia. Now Russia is wooing the Yugoslavs with fair words, trade offers, and negotiations for renewed cultural relations—Soviet movies, for example.

Some Yugoslav officials and newspapers—though not Tito, apparently—have been reacting by expressing partial sympathy with Soviet proposals on Germany and other issues.

But Russia is not wooing Yugoslavia alone. She has eased relations with Red China by promises to withdraw occupation troops, dissolve joint stock companies that were exploiting China, and provide more economic aid. She is making similar economic concessions to Romania and Bulgaria and is trying to show her "friendship" for East Germany in ways that will make any uprising there unlikely. She is also seeking the friendship of America's allies.

These moves pose problems for the United States. Gone is the time when American diplomacy could afford blunders, because Russia could be counted on to act so hostile and uncooperative that other nations would be antagonized.

The Republic Of Formosa

The puzzle about the fighting over Quemoy and over the mainland of China in the vicinity of Amoy is beginning to be clear. First, Chiang Kai-shek tried to give the impression to the Red Chinese that he was ready for them, which meant that his American advisers authorized him to take a position. So there was some bombing of the mainland of China and Quemoy was bombed.

Then we were told that Walter S. Robertson of the State Department was in Formosa to advise Chiang to do no more attacking of the mainland. Then there were big headlines that Robertson was on Formosa for no such purpose. But the bombings stopped on both sides. So far as Chiang Kai-shek is concerned, he does not want to stop the bombings because he feels that they produce demoralizing conditions along the China coast at a time when the Red Chinese are unwilling to risk American intervention, but he is dependent upon the United States for military supplies which are only released to him in pursuance of American policy. He can only do such bombing as he has supplies. So the bombing more or less comes to a trickle.

Therefore, it is necessary to go back into the relations between the United States and Great Britain, between John Foster Dulles and Sir Anthony Eden, to discover if anything happened recently to change the American attitude toward Formosa. We know that at Geneva the relations between Dulles and Eden had deteriorated. Then we were informed that they had patched up their differences, which were principally about Far Eastern policies, Great Britain supporting the demands of Red China which the United States rejected. Then Nehru visits Mao Tse-tung and a counter-SEATO axis was arranged which includes Indonesia, Indochina, Burma and Nepal—and Ho Chi Minh and Chou En-lai announced that there will be no further military efforts in Southeast Asia, which they could only do with the consent of the Kremlin.

Therefore, the picture seems to be that a quiet arrangement has been made to let the year 1954 pass without affecting the status quo in Asia. There is to be no fighting, no incursions into Thailand, no extension of the Soviet Universal State. It is hoped that if there are no sensations to aggravate American public opinion, it will be possible to arrange for Red China to be admitted into the United Nations.

In fact, both Chinas are to be in the United Nations, but Chiang Kai-shek's China will no longer be called China but the Republic of Formosa. It is doubtful whether Chiang would or could agree to any such proposition but I have been informed by long-standing personal friends on the Island of Formosa that this proposal has already been made. I have not been told what the response has been. Incidentally, it was a similar proposal for the division of China between Communists and Nationalists made to Chiang by General George Marshall in 1946 which resulted in the Communist conquest of China. The Nationalist Chinese are fearful that ultimately this plan will eliminate Formosa altogether and that the Communist conquest of the East of Asia will be complete.

Meanwhile, many reports are afoot of meetings among some American business men to conduct a propaganda in favor of the recognition of Red China with the object of getting a share of the China trade, perhaps in cooperation with British companies. These business men hope that the Chinese Communists will give them a share of the China trade sufficient to justify an unpopular action, which would cease to be unpopular when the profits began to pour in. The delusion about profits may become evident or not, but the recognition of Red China by the United Nations and possibly by the United States will have been completed before the returns are in.

This much needs to be faced: The Russians have made it a primary factor in their policy to have Red China recognized by the United Nations. Their argument is that Red China is the legitimate successor to Nationalist China which, by a revolt of the people, was unseated. Their evidence is that Red China holds the country, except Formosa and some other islands. Great Britain supports this position on the simple ground that possession is a fact. The pressure on the United States will continue to be enormous to conform to the British view.

Williams Victory Could Be Step Toward Presidency

By Stewart Alsop

LANSING, Mich.

If Gov. G. Mennen Williams wins a fourth term on Nov. 2—which most observers here expect him to do—he will have a legitimate claim to be considered for the Democratic Presidential nomination in 1956. Both friends and enemies expect him to assert this claim just as strongly as he is able.

When Williams himself is asked about his Presidential prospects, he ducks, grinning, behind the politician's old refuge-phrase—"Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof." But Williams could have had the Senatorial nomination for the asking, and those who know him well believe that he chose instead to run for an unprecedented fourth term as Governor for one simple reason. This was a shrewd calculation that the Executive Mansion in Lansing provided a better jumping-off place to the White House than the Senate.

Formidable Opponent

Williams' opponent, Donald Leonard, is considered a formidable campaigner. If Williams beats him by a healthy margin, the Michigan Governor simply cannot be laughed off as a Presidential possibility. A Democrat who can win four times in a row in a big, rich, normally Republican mid-Western state is no laughing matter politically. As Williams' adherents like to point out, "Adlai Stevenson has only won one election." Such are the reasons why Williams is an interesting political figure—one of the most interesting in the whole Middle West. And there is another reason as well. As Williams himself say, the signs of Democratic triumph are "too good to believe." But it is already obvious that, if the triumph does take place, Adlai Stevenson will not have it all his own way. There will be a mad scramble for the Democratic nomination. And, if he is re-elected, G. Mennen Williams, with forty delegate votes safely in his pocket, is certain to play a decisive role in this scramble.

Although he is well into his forties, Williams is always thought of, even here in Michigan, as the merest boy. The fact is that he cultivates boyishness as a political asset. His twin trade marks are an out-sized polka-dot bow tie and a boyish grin. Because he has family connections with two soap dynasties, he is universally known as "Soapy," and he has done nothing to discourage this boyish sobriquet.

Yet there is nothing juvenile about his politics. He is one of the hardest working politicians in the country. He is living proof of the value of personal contacts, even in the television era. Williams has unquestionably shaken more hands, attended more weddings, danced with more wives, and called more square dances than any politician in Michigan's history.

But he is not only a brilliantly successful glad-hander. He is also an extremely shrewd politician. When he talks politics, he talks the language of the professional. He has no doubt whatsoever about the reality of the Democratic trend, and equally no doubt that the trend is based squarely on the economic down-turn. Yet he also expresses one caveat, which many Democratic counters of unhatched chickens tend to overlook.

In Michigan as elsewhere, polls show a sharp upturn in the Demo-

Ike Partially Snubs Prime Minister; Tubman Completely Snubs Talmadge

By Drew Fearson

WASHINGTON — The Prime Minister of Pakistan, our most important ally in the Middle East, abruptly canceled his visit in the United States and Canada last Thursday and flew back home.

He had news of political trouble in Pakistan and he was also given a series of personal brush-offs in Washington.

Even though he received a jovial semi-apology from President Eisenhower, his entourage made no bones about the fact that he had been snubbed.

The series of brush-offs began when the White House changed the Prime Minister's schedule at the last minute because Eisenhower was delayed by hastily arranged political speeches. Mohammed Ali was told he had to be in Washington between October 14 and 16, even though this interfered with an honorary degree he was receiving from Columbia on October 15. Nevertheless, he complied.

Arriving in Washington, he found neither the President nor Secretary of State Dulles at the airport to greet him—not even Vice President Nixon. And a chief of state is supposed to meet another chief of state.

In an effort to keep his engagement with Columbia University, Mohammed Ali tried to fly to New York on October 15, but Hurricane Hazel interfered, causing him to take a train at 4 a. m. October 15, then return to Washington on a 12:30 a. m. train next morning.

He got back to the capital a bit sleepy-eyed for the White House lunch finally given for him on Saturday. But Mrs. Eisenhower failed to entertain Ali's very attractive wife, the begum. She was not inph's warning was relayed to President Tubman by Liberian Ambassador Clarence L. Simpson well before the President left Liberia. When he received it, President Tubman was disturbed. He didn't want to reject the invitation of an American governor and he did not quite understand why Talmadge was so hated by American Negroes.

So he had Ambassador Simpson fly all the way to Liberia for a one-day conference at which it was explained that the Governor of Georgia had vowed Negroes would be admitted to white schools only over his dead body.

As a result, President Tubman will go to Georgia to receive a degree from Atlanta University, but not to visit Governor Talmadge.

Meanwhile, Mohammed Ali was supposed to go to Canada. At the last minute, however, Premier St. Laurent asked him to wait a few days, because, he too, was busy campaigning. This was too much for Mohammed Ali. He notified the Prime Minister of Canada that he was canceling his trip. Shortly thereafter he got word that he faced political trouble at home, so he packed up and flew back to Pakistan.

Liberia and Georgia

President Tubman of Liberia has been advised to decline politely the invitation of Gov. Herman Talmadge of Georgia to visit the native state of Tubman's mother.

The Negro president of the Negro republic will go to Georgia, but not to be the guest of Governor Talmadge. This is because his political advisers, including Carl Murphy, publisher of the Afro-American, warned him vigorously against it. Any dealing with the governor who made segregation such a bitter issue, they advised would subject President Tubman to criticism from Negroes all over the United States as well as at home where he faces an election campaign.

The Talmadge invitation was considered so important and so full of potential danger that Mur-

Sales And Parking

By Roger W. Babson

BABSON PARK, Mass. — An analysis of retail sales shows some very interesting figures. From January 1 through September 1, 1954 sales declined about two per cent from the same period last year. There, however, was a modest pickup during September. This was due largely to the cool weather and to this year's extensive store advertising.

More Money Than Ever

The decline in 1954 has been in the face of more money available for spending than ever. Individuals' savings are at the highest level in history. Wages are also higher than ever before. Most prices are reasonable and storekeepers are trying hard to please their customers.

There should be more customers than ever, as a result of our net gain in population of 225,000 each month. Births are increasing and sickness is decreasing. More children are going to school and are dressing better at school. The only "out" is that parents do not have so much overtime money as they did in 1953.

Reasons For Declining Sales

This means that certain parents have had more time to do needed work at home. The "do-it-yourself" industries have boomed! People have been buying tools, paints, wallpaper, plywood, etc., instead of spending the money on movies and entertainment. Families are "cooking-it-themselves" more, and going out to restaurants less.

Some cities which have many parking meters have trained parents to visit the shopping centers together in couples, but always leaving one person in the car to listen to the radio, or read a picture magazine, or eat a nickel candy bar. This growing new habit has increased sales by drawing more people into the shopping district and eliminating their fear of getting parking tickets. Both persons can take their turns shopping, and also at watching the parking meter and dropping in another nickel at the right time. Other stores have boys or girls with supplies of nickels to watch their customers' cars.

Holy Smoke

Advertisers might start calling cigarettes made from Maryland tobacco "holy smokes" when they hear about this. Following Hurricane Hazel, many Southern Maryland farmers were left with no place to keep their tobacco. Their drying barns had been destroyed by the storm.

But among the offers of help came one from Rev. Samuel Robb, S. J., pastor of St. Michael's Church, Ridge, Md., who told his parishioners they could use the school hall and even the church, if necessary, to dry their tobacco.

"We've hung up holly and Christmas greens in the church," he said. "In an emergency like this, I'm sure the Lord wouldn't be offended by the smell of tobacco if you have nowhere else to dry it."

Merry-Go-Round

Lamar Caudle went down to Ocean Drive, S. C., just after Hurricane Hazel hit and couldn't even locate his former beach cottage. Not a stick of furniture, not a sign of the building except the toilet bowl. The entire 22-mile row of beach houses had gone, except for row upon row of white toilets. The plumbing anchored them to the ground. Dr. Johan Bjorkstén will unveil the home of the future before the National Academy of Sciences next week—made entirely of plastics—plexi-glass walls, plastic pipes, and fibre glass doors—completely plastic from top to bottom. James Selvaage, the public relations tycoon, is in hot water with his partners for smearing Congressman Case in the New Jersey Senate race.

Epilepsy Victims Organize In Move To Erase Stigma

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The 1½ million victims of epilepsy in this country are organizing to erase the stigma and change the obsolete laws directed against them for centuries. They acknowledge the handicap, but want the opportunity to attend regular classes in public school, work without discrimination, and live an active, normal life.

Most epileptics can do these things. With our modern remedies it is possible to control the attacks completely in more than 50 per cent. In an additional 30 per cent the number of seizures is reduced considerably. These encouraging results speak for themselves. This was expressed recently by a patient who said, "W— should I be penalized 365 days just because I have two attacks a year that last five minutes each?"

Epilepsy is not contagious nor does it affect the I. Q. The proportion of epileptics with dull, average, or superior intelligence parallels that of the general population. They work hard and have less accidents. Furthermore, a recent survey showed that most accidents occurring to persons with the disease do not stem from seizures but are of the kind that can happen to anybody. Handicapped individuals have trouble finding employment and consequently are likely to be model workers after they find a job.

We now know that the chance of inheriting epilepsy is not as great as was believed formerly. This has encouraged more epileptics to marry and rear families. There is one chance in 50 that the offspring of an epileptic will develop seizures. Furthermore, even if the child is afflicted with the disease there is an excellent possibility that he will be able to live a normal life with improved methods of treatment. As a result, there is no reason why an individual with epilepsy cannot marry and have children.

On the other hand, when there is a strong family history of epilepsy on both sides, the chance of transmitting the disease is much greater. Many physicians discourage having children under the circumstances.

Some authorities also recommend that the fiancée of an epileptic have the brain waves tested with the electroencephalograph. If the pattern is normal, the marriage is not contraindicated. This is done under the premise that non-epileptic individuals may carry the "epileptic trait." There is disagreement on this point; consequently many physicians do not make suggestions along this line.

There are many remedies for epilepsy but treatment of each case is an individual matter. Close supervision is needed during the first few months because it may be necessary to switch medicines or alter the dosage in order to bring seizures under control.

SPREADING INFECTION

M. C. writes: What is good for blood poisoning?

REPLY

This condition is serious because bacteria have invaded the blood stream and expert care is required. Penicillin or other antibiotic proves life saving in this disease. The layman frequently uses the term blood poisoning to refer to spread of infection on a finger or leg toward the armpit or groin. The red streaks on the limb represent invasion of the lymphatic passageways, however, rather than of the blood stream.

ARTERY BLOWOUT

T. R. writes: What is an arterial blowout?

Rupture of an artery. Normal blood vessels seldom suffer a blowout and when the condition occurs, aneurysm or hardening of the arteries may be responsible.

DROPSY

D. F. writes: Is dropsy ever cured?

REPLY

Yes, depending upon the cause. Dropsy is a symptom and not a separate disease and when the tissues are waterlogged because of a thyroid deficiency, for example, the excess fluid disappears after thyroid extract is administered. When heart disease is responsible for dropsy, the use of digitalis, a low salt diet, and a diuretic usually encourages elimination of the fluid.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return-stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me!

By Bennett Cerf

Sir Cedric Hardwicke, distinguished British actor, journeyed to darkest Greenwich Village to watch a semi-pro theatrical group do what they could with Bernard Shaw's "Mrs. Warren's Profession." During the intermission, he was standing at the curb, toying with his monocle, when a drunk sashayed out of a neighboring bar, and staggered straight into Sir Cedric. He recovered with some difficulty, spotted the monocle, and very grandly remarked, "Bless my soul, and when did you come over, Lord Plushbottom?" He then fell on his face.

An officer of the law stopped short when he observed a man proceeding down Main Street clad only in a barrel. "Ah, ha!" he exclaimed. "Been playing poker, eh?"

"Not me," said the man in the barrel sadly. "But I just left six other fellows who were."

The Velvet Glove Creates Problems

The new velvet-glove policy of the Soviet Union is again evident in A. A. Vishinsky's placid acceptance of Russia's defeat on Trieste. That the Trieste settlement was a defeat for Soviet policy is obvious. The settlement was sponsored unilaterally by the West in an area in which Russia had previously been given a voice—a voice which she had used to prevent a settlement as long as she could.

Only last year Vishinsky ranted in the U. N. Security Council against the British-American decision to withdraw occupation troops in order to facilitate a settlement. He said then that Russia would never agree. Now he philosophically states in a letter to the current Security Council president that the Trieste settlement will promote normal relations between Italy and Yugoslavia and thus contribute to a relaxation of tension.

So it is again evident that the Kremlin, though as hostile as ever toward the United States, is working hard to improve relations with other countries and to undo some of Stalin's mistakes. One of Stalin's worst blunders was his attempt to overthrow Tito of Yugoslavia. Now Russia is wooing the Yugoslavs with fair words, trade offers, and negotiations for renewed cultural relations—Soviet movies, for example.

Some Yugoslav officials and newspapers—though not Tito, apparently—have been reacting by expressing partial sympathy with Soviet proposals on Germany and other issues.

But Russia is not wooing Yugoslavia alone. She has eased relations with Red China by promises to withdraw occupation troops, dissolve joint stock companies that were exploiting China, and provide more economic aid. She is making similar economic concessions to Romania and Bulgaria and is trying to show her "friendship" for East Germany in ways that will make any uprising there unlikely. She is also seeking the friendship of America's allies.

These moves pose problems for the United States. Gone is the time when American diplomacy could afford blunders, because Russia could be counted on to act so hostile and uncooperative that other nations would be antagonized.

Yes, depending upon the cause. Dropsy is a symptom and not a separate disease and when the tissues are waterlogged because of a thyroid deficiency, for example, the excess fluid disappears after thyroid extract is administered. When heart disease is responsible for dropsy, the use of digitalis, a low salt diet, and a diuretic usually encourages elimination of the fluid.

Ike Partially Snubs Prime Minister; Tubman Completely Snubs Talmadge

By Drew Fearson

WASHINGTON — The Prime Minister of Pakistan, our most important ally in the Middle East, abruptly canceled his visit in the United States and Canada last Thursday and flew back home.

He had news of political trouble in Pakistan and he was also given a series of personal brush-offs in Washington.

Even though he received a jovial semi-apology from President Eisenhower, his entourage made no bones about the fact that he had been snubbed.

The series of brush-offs began when the White House changed the Prime Minister's schedule at the last minute because Eisenhower was delayed by hastily arranged political speeches. Mohammed Ali was told he had to be in Washington between October 14 and 16, even though this interfered with an honorary degree he was receiving from Columbia on October 15. Nevertheless, he complied.

Arriving in Washington, he found neither the President nor Secretary of State Dulles at the airport to greet him—not even Vice President Nixon. And a chief of state is supposed to meet another chief of state.

In an effort to keep his engagement with Columbia University, Mohammed Ali tried to fly to New York on October 15, but Hurricane Hazel interfered, causing him to take a train at 4 a. m. October 15, then return to Washington on a 12:30 a. m. train next morning.

He got back to the capital a bit sleepy-eyed for the White House lunch finally given for him on Saturday. But Mrs. Eisenhower failed to entertain Ali's very attractive wife, the begum. She was not invited to the White House at all. To make up for this, the Pakistan Embassy gave a reception in her honor for the wives of Southeast Asia ambassadors.

On top of all this, the President of Liberia came to town while the Prime Minister of Pakistan was still here and got the super-duper k-d-glove treatment with all the trimmings, including a parade down Constitution Avenue, a special greeting at the airport, plus a tour all over the Eastern U. S. A., with Republican politicians falling over each other to get the Negro president to visit cities with heavy negro population.

Meanwhile, Mohammed Ali was supposed to go to Canada. At the last minute, however, Premier St. Laurent asked him to wait a few days, because, he too, was busy campaigning. This was too much for Mohammed Ali. He notified the Prime Minister of Canada that he was canceling his trip. Shortly thereafter he got word that he faced political trouble at home, so he packed up and flew back to Pakistan.

Just before he left, however, the State Department woke up to the fact that Mohammed Ali was about to go away mad. Hurriedly, it announced that the U. S. A. would extend $105,000,000 economic aid to Pakistan. It's just barely possible that he got more money because his feelings were hurt. Anyway, it was five times what he got last year. So Mohammed Ali flew home happy.

Liberia and Georgia

President Tubman of Liberia has been advised to decline politely the invitation of Gov. Herman Talmadge of Georgia to visit the native state of Tubman's mother.

The Negro president of the Negro republic will go to Georgia, but not to be the guest of Governor Talmadge. This is because his political advisers, including Carl Murphy, publisher of the Afro-American, warned him vigorously against it. Any dealing with the governor who made segregation such a bitter issue, they advised would subject President Tubman to criticism from Negroes all over the United States as well as at home where he faces an election campaign.

The Talmadge invitation was considered so important and so full of potential danger that Murphy's warning was relayed to President Tubman by Liberian Ambassador Clarence L. Simpson well before the President left Liberia. When he received it, President Tubman was disturbed. He didn't want to reject the invitation of an American governor and he did not quite understand why Talmadge was so hated by American Negroes.

So he had Ambassador Simpson fly all the way to Liberia for a one-day conference at which it was explained that the Governor of Georgia had vowed Negroes would be admitted to white schools only over his dead body.

As a result, President Tubman will go to Georgia to receive a degree from Atlanta University, but not to visit Governor Talmadge.

Holy Smoke

Advertisers might start calling cigarettes made from Maryland tobacco "holy smokes" when they hear about this. Following Hurricane Hazel, many Southern Maryland farmers were left with no place to keep their tobacco. Their drying barns had been destroyed by the storm.

But among the offers of help came one from Rev. Samuel Robb, S. J., pastor of St. Michael's Church, Ridge, Md., who told his parishioners they could use the school hall and even the church, if necessary, to dry their tobacco.

"We've hung up holly and Christmas greens in the church," he said. "In an emergency like this, I'm sure the Lord wouldn't be offended by the smell of tobacco if you have nowhere else to dry it."

Merry-Go-Round

Lamar Caudle went down to Ocean Drive, S. C., just after Hurricane Hazel hit and couldn't even locate his former beach cottage. Not a stick of furniture, not a sign of the building except the toilet bowl. The entire 22-mile row of beach houses had gone, except for row upon row of white toilets. The plumbing anchored them to the ground. Dr. Johan Bjorkstén will unveil the home of the future before the National Academy of Sciences next week—made entirely of plastics—plexi-glass walls, plastic pipes, and fibre glass doors—completely plastic from top to bottom. James Selvaage, the public relations tycoon, is in hot water with his partners for smearing Congressman Case in the New Jersey Senate race.

Sales And Parking

By Roger W. Babson

BABSON PARK, Mass. — An analysis of retail sales shows some very interesting figures. From January 1 through September 1, 1954 sales declined about two per cent from the same period last year. There, however, was a modest pickup during September. This was due largely to the cool weather and to this year's extensive store advertising.

More Money Than Ever

The decline in 1954 has been in the face of more money available for spending than ever. Individuals' savings are at the highest level in history. Wages also are higher than ever before. Most prices are reasonable and storekeepers are trying hard to please their customers.

There should be more customers than ever, as a result of our net gain in population of 225,000 each month. Births are increasing and sickness is decreasing. More children are going to school and are dressing better at school. The only "out" is that parents do not have so much overtime money as they did in 1953.

Reasons For Declining Sales

This means that certain parents have had more time to do needed work at home. The "do-it-yourself" industries have boomed! People have been buying tools, paints, wallpaper, plywood, etc., instead of spending the money on movies and entertainment. Families are "cooking-it-themselves" more, and going out to restaurants less.

Some cities which have many parking meters have trained parents to visit the shopping centers together in couples, but always leaving one person in the car to listen to the radio, or read a picture magazine, or eat a nickel candy bar. This growing new habit has increased sales by drawing more people into the shopping district and eliminating their fear of getting parking tickets. Both persons can take their turns shopping, and also at watching the parking meter and dropping in another nickel at the right time. Other stores have boys or girls with supplies of nickels to watch their customers' cars.

Poor Sales, Poor Parking

An analysis of sales shows that they have varied in accordance with parking facilities. Stores in which customers can trade without any parking problems show increases. The other stores have shown decreases. Since current high factory employment is impossible to maintain without high retail sales, it will be seen that unemployment figures of the entire country may be considerably affected by the availability of adequate parking facilities.

The truly "self-service" stores have shown the greatest increases. In these, the customers need not wait for change or wrapping. They can shop quickly and pay at the check-out door. Hence, "self-service" is also helping the employment situation for the entire nation, as well as the well-being of each city. Local governments should remember that the retail merchants—not the factories—are the lifeblood of every city and every nation.

What About Parking Meters?

Parking meters are useful in preventing "all-day-parkers" from hogging the streets; but otherwise they have hurt retail business. A woman leaves home with a large list of things she wants to buy. She finds a vacant parking space and drops five cents in the slot. Then she starts to get her supplies; but she is continually worrying about her car. The time goes too quickly. She is thinking of the car instead of her purchases. She goes home with half of her shopping list bought.

Every merchant should fight for free parking lots, or else lots that provide two-hour parking for five cents. In other words, cities must not only provide parking, but must also eliminate the worry and hurry of shoppers. The present idea of the customer to get back home as soon as possible is absolutely wrong. The setup and aim of the stores should be to keep her in the shopping district as long as possible.

Giants Thump Redskins, 24-7, Tie For Lead

Conerly's Passes
Net Three Scores

NEW YORK, Oct. 24 (INS)—The New York Giants moved into a three-way tie for first place in the Eastern Division of the National Football League today when they defeated the winless Washington Redskins, 24 to 7, before 22,597 fans at the Polo Grounds.

Quarterback Charley Conerly tossed three touchdown passes to pace the Giants to their fourth win in five games. They now boast the same season's mark as the Philadelphia Eagles and the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Conerly hit on 12 of 20 passes for 185 yards and end Bob Schneider caught five passes for 56 yards. Ben Agajanian, who booted all the Giant extra points, started the day's scoring with a 10-yard field goal in the opening period.

The Skins, who lost their fifth (after dropping six exhibitions in a row) got their only touchdown at 2:39 of the third quarter when Al Dorow sneaked over from the two.

Green Bay Wins Over Colts, 7-6

Cone's Conversion
Decides NFL Tilt

BALTIMORE, Oct. 24 (INS)—A dull 7 to 6 win for the Green Bay Packers over the Baltimore Colts broke a tie today between the two teams for last place in the National Football League's western Division.

Green Bay Halfback Floyd Reid plunged over the goal line in the third quarter before 28,680 spectators to score the game's only touchdown. Fullback Fred Cone kicked the point after touchdown to give Green Bay its winning tally.

Baltimore scored in the first and third quarters when Quarterback Cary Kerkorian kicked field goals, each time from the 26-yard line.

Both teams went into the game in the Western Division's bottom spot with one win and three losses each.

Holman Resents Statement Made In NCAA Ruling

References To Him
Were False, He Says

NEW YORK, Oct. 24 (INS)—CCNY basketball coach Nat Holman today demanded "prompt retraction" of a statement issued by NCAA President Albert Moore which Holman labeled "libelous."

Holman, in a telegram to Moore, dean of the graduate school at the University of Alabama, charged the NCAA with making "completely false" references to him.

Holman said: "You issued a statement on Wednesday in which you said that City College players had agreed to accept money for a South American trip at the urging of the assistant basketball coach and ostensibly with the knowledge of the head basketball coach—meaning me."

"I never knew the assistant basketball coach made the offer to which you refer," Holman continued. "In the public hearings on the case, the witnesses all testified that the offer had been made without my knowledge and, in fact, that the participants had deliberately concealed it from me."

Browns Top Cards, 35-3

Chicagoans Suffer
5th Straight Loss

CHICAGO, Oct. 24 (INS)—The Cleveland Browns whipped the Chicago Cardinals, 35 to 3, today for the 10th straight time since the Browns entered the National Football League.

It was the winless Cards' fifth consecutive defeat this season and was witnessed by 23,823 fans at Comiskey Park.

Veteran Browns quarterback Otto Graham scored two touchdowns on sneaks over the middle of the Chicago line and threw a 26-yard pass to end Dante Lavelli for another. Cleveland fullback Maurice Bassett mashed over for two more Browns' touchdowns.

The Cards got their three points in the first period when Pat Sumnerall kicked a 41-yard field goal. The Browns scored a single touchdown in the first quarter and two more in the second period to take a 21 to 3 halftime lead. They added two more touchdowns in the third quarter to clinch the victory.

SS. Peter and Paul took a 6-0 lead in the first period on Rosenmerkle's pass to Wilt for a touchdown. Mackert ran the extra point.

In the second period, Neus blocked a St. Patrick's punt and O'Rourke recovered in the end zone to give the West Siders a 13-0 advantage.

Murray passed to Martin for St. Patrick's first touchdown in the second period and the league leaders tied it up in the third period when Lepore scored from the two following runs of 22 yards by Murray and 18 yards by Martin. Murray converted on a running play.

DIES OF INJURIES

Earl Whitehill, 55, former star American League left-handed pitcher, died Friday in an Omaha hospital of head injuries received in a traffic accident on October 16. Whitehill was the driver of an automobile involved in a two-car crash in downtown Omaha. He was a native of Cedar Rapids, Ia., and during his big league career, 1924 to 1939, he starred with Detroit, Washington and Cleveland. He wound up his playing days as relief pitcher for the Cubs. The "Earl of Cedar Rapids" as he was known because of his handsome appearance won 214 games and lost 179 in his 16 years in the majors.

Sluggers Win 'Junie' Perry Benefit Game

Top Barrelville, 14-2;
$67 Goes To Player

GRANTSVILLE, Md., Oct. 24 — Grantsville's Sluggers trounced Barrelville in a benefit baseball game here today by the score of 14-2. The contest was limited to 6 1/2 innings by mutual agreement.

The game was played for the benefit of "Junie" Perry, Grantsville outfielder-pitcher, who suffered a dislocated shoulder when he fell in the outfield going after a fly ball about six weeks ago. The benefit league by teams of the Pen-Mar League netted $67 for the injured outfielder who witnessed the tilt.

Last week the teams were scheduled to play here but Hurricane Hazel and the Casselman river conspired to stop the game. The river went out of its banks and put the park under six feet of water, the fences were knocked down and the grandstand moved.

To prepare for today's game, the Grantsville management worked all week removing dirt, silt and logs from the playing field.

Grantsville pounded visiting pitchers for 11 hits in today's abbreviated game. The big blow was Joe Wenger's grand slam homer in the six-run second inning. The wallop cleared the left field fence. He also rapped a single. Buterbaugh collected three hits. Hunter hammered a double and single and Don Wenger smacked a two-bagger.

"Rags" Morgan obtained two of the losers' six hits and Merle See lapped a double. Barrelville left 11 runners on the baselines.

West Virginia's Next Opponent Is Pitt's Panthers

Morgantown Is Scene
Of Saturday Contest

By ROBERT MOORE
Associated Press Staff Writer

West Virginia's Mountaineers, one of two remaining undefeated and untied football teams in the Southern Conference, run up against their toughest foe of the campaign Saturday.

The Mountaineers, ranked No. 10 in the nation, battle Pittsburgh at Morgantown, W. Va. If West Virginia gets by Pitt, the Mountaineers will be favorites to go on through the season without alicking.

Trash VMI, 40-6

The Mountaineers had little difficulty Saturday in thrashing Virginia military, 40-6, for their fourth triumph. After the game, VMI Coach John McKenna said West Virginia's first team "is definitely above" the 1953 team that gained a Sugar Bowl invitation.

"But the overall squad strength is weaker," McKenna said. "Not as much depth. Freddy Wyant, as usual, was a continual headache on the opposition. Joe Marconi is a great fullback. Bruce Bosley and Gene Lamone were the standouts in their line."

Art (Pappy) Lewis, the West Virginia coach, also praised his club's performance. "The entire first string line did a great job."

"Lewis said, 'All the backs played terrifically.'"

Fourteenth-rated Virginia Tech, the conference's other team with a clean record, had its hands full in downing Virginia, 6-0. The game's only touchdown came in the second quarter when Tech gobbled up 73 yards in six plays, with sophomore quarterback Bill Cranwell tossing a 20-yard pass to sophomore end Grover Jones for the payoff.

Tech Posts 5th Win

The victory was Tech's fifth and marked the first time a Gobbler team has won five games in succession since 1932. It also was the first time in 14 years Virginia has been blanked by a State foe. Tech turned the trick the last time, too, winning over the Cavaliers in 1940 by the same 6-0 score.

West Virginia's victory elevated the Mountaineers to a deadlock with Furman, a 19-7 Friday night victor over Davidson, for first place in conference standings. Each has a 2-0 record. Tech is right behind with a 1-0 mark. Every other team has been beaten or tied.

In other games over the weekend, William and Mary and George Washington played to a 13-13 tie, and The Citadel dropped a 20-19 game to Presbyterian. Richmond was idle.

This week's schedule:

Friday night — Richmond at George Washington.

Blanda Is Star But Bears Lose To Rams, 42-38

Tosses 4 TD Passes,
Kicks Goal, 5 Points

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 24 (INS)—Effective running by Deacon Dan Towler and Tank Younger and timely passing by Norm Van Brocklin sparked the Los Angeles Rams to a hard-fought 42 to 38 victory over the Chicago Bears today at Los Angeles.

A crowd of 48,174 persons watched Bears' quarterback, George Blanda keep his team in the game by tossing four touchdowns.

In addition, the former Kentucky star, booted a 31-yard field goal and kicked five extra points to run his consecutive string to 97.

Younger scored the Rams' first touchdown midway in the opening period, another in the third quarter and set up several other scores with long runs.

Towler scored three touchdowns and battered his way for a total of 123 yards in 15 carries. Younger packed the ball 27 times and gained 186 yards.

Between them, the two teams made 58 first downs, a new National Football League record.

Van Brocklin passed for one score with a 10-yard toss to Tom Fears in the second period. He threw 24 passes, completed 16 for 250 yards and had one fumble intercepted.

Blanda pitched 46 times, completed 28 for 338 yards.

Potomac State, Beall, Southern High Score Football Victories

Potomac State's Catamounts defeated the Shepherd College Rams or a fourth quarter, touchdown, 13-7. Beall High School, paced by John Hanel who registered three touchdowns, trimmed the Purple Panthers at Charles Town, W. Va., 27-13, and Southern High School concluded its first season of football with a 26-6 decision over the Keyser High Jayvees in games played Saturday.

An 11-play pass from Bob Connolly to Ross Mastrean netted the score that enabled Potomac State to defeat the Rams in the Catamounts' homecoming game in Keyser. Mastrean kicked the point.

Connolly scored State's first td in the opening quarter and Shepherd took a 7-6 lead in the third period on Claude Flagg's 60-yard touchdown gallop and extra point.

Hanel scored three of Beall High's touchdowns on runs of 75, 65 and 38 yards while Andy Felker got the other on a 15-yard sprint. Tom Emmart made two conversions and Jim Sigler one. Lawson and Cook racked up the Panthers' tds.

Bill Deckman scored twice and Alan Knotts and Toby Colaw registered once each in Southern's initial victory of the season. Deckman also accounted for both extra points. Stott made the Keyser 6-pointer in the second period.

Cone's Conversion
Decides NFL Tilt

BALTIMORE, Oct. 24 (INS)—A dull 7 to 6 win for the Green Bay Packers over the Baltimore Colts broke a tie today between the two teams for last place in the National Football League's western Division.

Green Bay Halfback Floyd Reid plunged over the goal line in the third quarter before 28,680 spectators to score the game's only touchdown. Fullback Fred Cone kicked the point after touchdown to give Green Bay its winning tally.

Baltimore scored in the first and third quarters when Quarterback Cary Kerkorian kicked field goals, each time from the 26-yard line.

Both teams went into the game in the Western Division's bottom spot with one win and three losses each.

DIES OF INJURIES — Earl Whitehill, 55, former star American League left-handed pitcher, died Friday in an Omaha hospital of head injuries received in a traffic accident on October 16. Whitehill was the driver of an automobile involved in a two-car crash in downtown Omaha. He was a native of Cedar Rapids, Ia., and during his big league career, 1924 to 1939, he starred with Detroit, Washington and Cleveland. He wound up his playing days as relief pitcher for the Cubs. The "Earl of Cedar Rapids" as he was known because of his handsome appearance won 214 games and lost 179 in his 16 years in the majors.

Holman Resents Statement Made In NCAA Ruling

References To Him
Were False, He Says

NEW YORK, Oct. 24 (INS)—CCNY basketball coach Nat Holman today demanded "prompt retraction" of a statement issued by NCAA President Albert Moore which Holman labeled "libelous."

Holman, in a telegram to Moore, dean of the graduate school at the University of Alabama, charged the NCAA with making "completely false" references to him.

"You issued a statement on Wednesday in which you said that City College players had agreed to accept money for a South American trip at the urging of the assistant basketball coach and ostensibly with the knowledge of the head basketball coach," meaning me.

"I never knew the assistant basketball coach made the offer to which you refer," Holman continued. "In the public hearings on the case, the witnesses all testified that the offer had been made without my knowledge and, in fact, that the participants had deliberately concealed it from me."

Browns Top Cards, 35-3

Chicagoans Suffer
5th Straight Loss

CHICAGO, Oct. 24 (INS)—The Cleveland Browns whipped the Chicago Cardinals, 35 to 3, today for the 10th straight time since the Browns entered the National Football League.

It was the winless Cards' fifth consecutive defeat this season and was witnessed by 23,823 fans at Comiskey Park.

Veteran Browns quarterback Otto Graham scored two touchdowns on sneaks over the middle of the Chicago line and threw a 26-yard pass to end Dante Lavelli for another. Cleveland fullback Maurice Bassett mashed over for two more Browns' touchdowns.

The Cards got their three points in the first period when Pat Sumner kicked a 41-yard field goal. The Browns scored a single touchdown in the first quarter and two more in the second period to take a 21 to 3 halftime lead. They added two more touchdowns in the third quarter to clinch the victory.

Persley Flattens Baltimore Boxer

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 24 (AP)—Arthur Persley, 138, No. 3 lightweight contender, knocked out Carl Coates, 138, Baltimore, Md., today in 1:05 of the eighth round of a hard fought battle scheduled for 10 rounds.

The Red Cross, La., lightweight, fighting a rare fight in his home state, stopped the durable Coates with a right after Coates had forced the fighting most of the way.

Sluggers Win 'Junie' Perry Benefit Game

Top Barrelville, 14-2;
$67 Goes To Player

GRANTSVILLE, Md., Oct. 24 — Grantsville's Sluggers trounced Barrelville in a benefit baseball game here today by the score of 14-2. The contest was limited to 6½ innings by mutual agreement.

The game was played for the benefit of "Junie" Perry, Grantsville outfielder-pitcher, who suffered a dislocated shoulder when he fell in the outfield going after a fly ball about six weeks ago. The benefit staged by teams of the Pen-Mar League netted $67 for the injured outfielder who witnessed the tilt.

Last week the teams were scheduled to play here but Hurricane Hazel and the Casselman river conspired to stop the game. The river went out of its banks and put the park under six feet of water, the fences were knocked down and the grandstand moved. To prepare for today's game, the Grantsville management worked all week removing dirt, silt and logs from the playing field.

Grantsville pounded visiting pitchers for 11 hits in today's abbreviated game. The big blow was Joe Wenger's grand slam homer in the six-run second inning. The wallop cleared the left field fence. He also rapped a single. Buterbaugh collected three hits, Hunter hammered a double and single and Don Wenger smacked a two-bagger.

"Rags" Morgan obtained two of the losers' six hits and Merle Seis lapped a double. Barrelville left 11 runners on the bases.

Don Miller was the winner and Glen Ford the loser. Miller fanned seven and his successor, Don O'Haver, whiffed three. Score:

GRANTSVILLE ..... 14 2 0 6-26
BARRELVILLE ..... 2 0 0 2-6

Ford, J. Glass (5) and Flynn D. Miller, O'Haver (5) and Keister, Bill See (7). HP—Joe Wenger (Grantsville). WP—Miller, LF—Ford.

West Virginia's Next Opponent Is Pitt's Panthers

Of Saturday Contest

By ROBERT MOORE
Associated Press Staff Writer

West Virginia's Mountaineers, one of two remaining undefeated and untied football teams in the Southern Conference, run up against their toughest foe of the campaign Saturday.

The Mountaineers, ranked No. 10 in the nation, battle Pittsburgh at Morgantown, W. Va. If West Virginia gets by Pitt, the Mountaineers will be favorites to go on through the season without alicking.

Trash VMI, 40-6

The Mountaineers had little difficulty Saturday in thrashing Virginia military, 40-6, for their fourth triumph. After the game, VMI Coach John McKenna said West Virginia's first team "is definitely above" the 1953 team that gained a Sugar Bowl invitation.

"But the overall squad strength is weaker," McKenna said. "Not as much depth. Freddy Wyant, as usual, was a continual headache on the opposition. Joe Marconi is a great fullback. Bruce Bosley and Gene Lamone were the standouts in their line."

Art (Pappy) Lewis, the West Virginia coach, also praised his club's performance. "The entire first string line did a great job," Lewis said. "All the backs played terrifically."

Fourteenth-rated Virginia Tech, the conference's other team with a clean record, had its hands full in downing Virginia, 6-0. The game's only touchdown came in the second quarter when Tech gobbled up 73 yards in six plays, with sophomore quarterback Bill Cranwell tossing a 20-yard pass to sophomore end Grover Jones for the payoff.

With Virginia out of the way, Tech Coach Frank Moseley started looking toward Saturday's game with William and Mary at Blacksburg, Va.

Tech Posts 5th Win

The victory was Tech's fifth and marked the first time a Gobler team has won five games in succession since 1932. It also was the first time in 14 years Virginia has been blanked by a State foe. Tech turned the trick the last time, too, winning over the Cavaliers in 1940 by the same 6-0 score.

West Virginia's victory elevated the Mountaineers into a deadlock with Furman, a 19-7 Friday night victor over Davidson, for first place in conference standings. Each has a 2-0 record. Tech is right behind with a 1-0 mark. Every other team has been beaten or tied.

In other games over the weekend, William and Mary and George Washington played to a 13-13 tie, and The Citadel dropped a 20-19 game to Presbyterian. Richmond was idle.

This week's schedule:

Friday — The Citadel vs. Wolford at Orangeburg, S. C.

Friday night — Richmond at George Washington.

Saturday — William and Mary at Virginia Tech; Florida State vs. Virginia Military at Lynchburg, Va.; Pittsburgh at West Virginia; West Virginia Tech at Davidson.

Saturday night — Furman at North Carolina State.

Blanda Is Star But Bears Lose To Rams, 42-38

Tosses 4 TD Passes,
Kicks Goal, 5 Points

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 24 (INS)—Effective running by Deacon Dan Towler and Tank Younger and timely passing by Norm Van Brocklin sparked the Los Angeles Rams to a hard-fought 42 to 38 victory over the Chicago Bears today at Los Angeles.

A crowd of 48,174 persons watched Bears' quarterback George Blanda keep his team in the game by tossing four touchdowns passes.

In addition, the former Kentucky star, boosted a 31-yard field goal and kicked five extra points to run his consecutive string to 97.

Younger scored the Rams' first touchdown midway in the opening period, another in the third quarter and set up several other scores with long runs.

Towler scored three touchdowns and battered his way for a total of 123 yards in 15 carries. Younger packed the ball 27 times and gained 186 yards.

Between them, the two teams made 58 first downs, a new National Football League record.

Van Brocklin passed for one score with a 10-yard toss to Tom Fears in the second period. He threw 24 passes, completed 16 for 250 yards and had one fling intercepted.

Blanda pitched 46 times, completed 28 for 338 yards.

Potomac State's Catamounts defeated the Shepherd College Rams or a fourth quarter, touchdown.

13-7, Beall High School, paced by John Hansel who registered three touchdowns, trimmed the Purple Panthers at Charles Town, W. Va., 27-13, and Southern High School concluded its first season of football with a 26-6 decision over the Keyser High Jayvees in games played Saturday.

An 11-yard pass from Bob Connolly to Ross Mastreen netted the score that enabled Potomac State to defeat the Rams in the Catamounts' homecoming game in Keyser. Mastreen kicked the point.

Connolly scored State's first td in the opening quarter and Shepherd took a 7-6 lead in the third period on Claude Flagg's 60-yard touchdown gallop and extra point.

Hansel scored three of Beall High's touchdowns on runs of 75, 65 and 38 yards while Andy Felker got the other on a 15-yard sprint. Tom Emmart made two conversions and Jim Sigler one. Lawson and Cook racked up the Panthers' tds.

Bill Deckman scored twice and Alan Knotts and Toby Colaw registered once each in Southern's initial victory of the season. Deckman also accounted for both extra points. Stott made the Keyser 6-pointer in the second period.

Major Colleges With Perfect Records Reduced To Nine

Wisconsin And Mississippi Are Among Latest Casualties

Lose To Ohio State, Michigan; Pitt, Navy, West Virginia Win

By WILL GRIMSLEY

The Associated Press
You could count the major unbeaten and untied college football teams on the fingers of both hands today, and have a finger left over. After another dizzy weekend of surprises, which saw Ohio State, Southern California and Arkansas emerge as leading bowl contenders, only nine squads of the big-time class were left with perfect records.

These were top-ranked Oklahoma, which should go all the way; point-a-minute UCLA, Ohio State, Arkansas, West Virginia, Virginia Tech, Miami (Fla.) Boston College and Cincinnati.

Wisconsin Is Casualty

The latest casualties included Wisconsin, the nation's No. 2 ranking power beaten by Ohio State 31-14; Mississippi, stopped by Arkansas 6-0; Minnesota, a 34-0 victim of Michigan in the Little Brown Jug game; Colorado, upset by Nebraska 20-6; Yale and Colgate, who played a 13-13 tie, and Boston University, leading for Eastern honors, edged out by Holy Cross 14-13.

Developments brought the Rose Bowl picture into rather sharp focus but threw the other bowl situations into complete confusion.

Tough Foes Ahead

The Buckeyes aren't home free, with Northwestern, Purdue and Michigan still ahead as league foes, but they have won the favorite's role on their swift striking power generated mainly by Howard (Hopalong) Cassidy.

Michigan, defeated earlier by Army, moved into prime bowl contention by crushing hitherto unbeaten Minnesota while Purdue, conqueror of Notre Dame, added the present Rose Bowl champion, Michigan State, to its victim list 27-13. Lenny Dawson tossing three scoring passes, Purdue bowed to Wisconsin a week ago.

Southern California, beaten only by Texas Christian, boosted its Rose Bowl hopes by downing California at Los Angeles 20-27 on the sparkling play of London Crow, who scored three touchdowns.

Arkansas Surprises

Arkansas, the season's biggest surprise, dumped Mississippi, pride of the South, 6-0, on a pass in the final four minutes from Buddy Benson to Preston Carpenter. This provoked some head-scratching among the men who pick for New Orleans' Sugar Bowl.

The game, although inter-conference, counted against Ole Miss' Southeastern record by pre-season agreement. Now who's going to win the Southeastern title and the bowl spot? Georgia Tech dropped its second game, this one to Kentucky 13-6, and Alabama fell before Mississippi State 12-7.

One thing appears sure. Two of the best teams in the country—if not the two best—will be idle Jan. 1. They are Oklahoma and UCLA, who played in the Orange and Rose Bowls respectively last January and can't return. Oklahoma looked sluggish in beating Kansas State 21-0 for its 14th straight. UCLA, third-ranked nationally, smothered

West Virginia U. Lands 10th Place In INS Grid Poll

For the seventh straight week Oklahoma has been voted the top college football team in the nation by International New Service's panel of experts.

1. Oklahoma (5-0)
2. Ohio State (5-0)
3. UCLA (6-0)
4. Army (4-1)
5. Notre Dame (3-1)
6. Arkansas (5-0)
7. Wisconsin (4-1)
8. Michigan (4-1)
9. Purdue (3-1-1)
10. West Virginia (4-0)

Elkins High Posts 7th Straight Win

Elkins High School extended its winning streak to seven games Saturday by defeating West Side High School at Fairmont by the score of 18-7.

The game originally was set for Thursday night at Fairmont but was postponed to Saturday afternoon due to a power failure at the Fairmont stadium.

Allegany High School plays at Elkins Friday, November 5.

Segura, Sedgman Win

MANILA, Oct. 24 (AP) — Pancho Segura and Frank Sedgman today won their matches in the final professional tennis exhibition by Jack Kramer's touring group.

Segura defeated Kramer 6-2, 6-2 and Sedgman defeated Pancho Gonzales 4-6, 6-3, 6-4. Gonzales and Sedgman downed Kramer and Segura in a doubles match, 6-4, 3-6, 6-2.

Oregon State 61-0 after crushing Stanford a week ago 72-0.

Colorado slipped up against Nebraska and lost 20-6 apparently while pointing to the big game with Oklahoma next Saturday. Missouri kept in the Orange Bowl running by topping Iowa State 32-14.

West Virginia Scores

In the East, Army's fast-moving Black Knights piled up the biggest score in the history of the series over Columbia 67-12 while the West Virginia Mountaineers toyed with Virginia Military Institute 40-6. Both may improve their rank of Nos. 9 and 10, respectively.

Three teams which hadn't won all year suddenly discovered prosperity. Cornell tumbled Princeton 27-0. Illinois, after four defeats, crushed Syracuse 34-6. Holy Cross, also loser of four, edged unbeaten Boston University 14-13.

Virginia Tech barely beat Virginia 6-0. Miami (Fla.) surprised favored Maryland Friday night. Cincinnati, which shares the longest major winning streak of 14 games with Oklahoma, won over Xavier (Ohio) 33-0.

Pitt Whips Wildcats
Navy smashed Penn 52-6 while Pitt won its second in a row, felling Northwestern 14-7. One of the East's big surprises was Temple's 19-14 victory over Brown.

In the south, Georgia won over Tulane 7-0. Auburn smashed Florida State 34-0. North Carolina beat Wake Forest 14-7 in a game which erupted into a fist fight, and Tennessee barely topped Dayton 14-7.

Rice won the Southwest's headliner from Texas 13-7, handing the Longhorns their fourth setback in a dismal season, and Billy Hooper passed Baylor to a 20-7 verdict over Texas A&M.

On the Pacific coast, Stanford bounced back for a 13-7 decision over Washington. Utah beat Wyoming 14-7 and Idaho licked Washington State 10-0 for the first time in 29 years.

At The Tracks

High Voltage Scores 5th Stakes Victory

LAUREL, Md., Oct. 24 (AP)—Mrs. Henry Carnegie Phipps' High Voltage took another step toward ranking as the year's best 2-year-old filly yesterday when she won the Selima Stakes at Laurel.

The internationally bred speedster beat seven others and took in $50,810.

It was her fifth stakes victory and her sixth win in 11 starts. She has won $165,325 in her first year of racing and has never been worse than third.

Deer Season For Archers Opens Nov. 1

Turkey And Squirrel Season Ends Oct. 31

BALTIMORE, Oct. 24 (AP)—A 12-day deer hunting season opens in Maryland Nov. 1, the Maryland Game and Inland Fish Commission reminded hunters today, but it's a special season limited to bow and arrow hunters.

Hunting will be legal in 13 counties, with a limit of one deer. The commission said that hunters fortunate enough to bag a deer will not be permitted to take another deer during the regular firearms season Dec. 6-11.

Deer of any sex or size are legal for the bowmen. Counties which can be hunted are Allegany, Calvert, Carroll, Frederick, Baltimore, Harford, Kent, Queen Anne's, Caroline, Talbot, Dorchester, Wicomico and Worcester.

The commission said the season on raccoons and opossums will open Nov. 1 and continue through January 31. It is unlawful to trap the animals.

Hunters were reminded by the commission that the open season on sora or Carolina rail and other rails and gallinules closed Oct. 20. The first half of the split season on mourning doves closed Oct. 4 and the wild turkey and squirrel season will end Oct. 31.

Saddler, Famechon To Fight In Paris

PARIS, Oct. 24 (AP) — Featherweight champion Sandy Saddler and France's Ray Famechon 10-rounder here tomorrow night amid conflicting predictions by their managers.

"I think Saddler will win. I wouldn't travel 3,000 miles to get licked," said Charley Johnson, Saddler's pilot.

Famechon's manager, Marcel Coletta said, "I sincerely believe that Raymond will beat Saddler. You can count on a victory."

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 24—(INS)—This I'd call perfect casting: Yul Brynner, who made a big name for himself on the stage in "The King And I," has been signed by 20th Century-Fox to play the same role for the screen musical.

Darryl Zanuck tells me he has Yul on a five-year deal. The beautiful score of Rodgers and Hammerstein will, of course, be used.

Deborah Kerr is still hot for the school teacher role, providing it's possible to dub in a singing voice that matches her personality.

P. S. Deborah, my Baltimore friends are waiting to give you a royal welcome when you open there in "Tea And Sympathy."

The "Tarzan" films have been so popular over a long period of years that Sol Lesser is going to spend more money than ever on the new series.

He feels that Gordon Scott is one of the best Tarzans he's ever had. This time he's omitting Tarzan's mate, Jane, and will concentrate on action instead.

Terence Maples, an authority on

At the rehearsal for the Peter Potter "Juke Box Jury" TV show, Vera Ellen was proudly displaying her new engagement ring, which is a large square cut diamond.

She and Victor Rothchild had planned to be married Dec. 15, but now they've decided to put the marriage ahead so they'll be married Dec. 2, and they'll honeymoon on his brother's yacht in Acapulco.

Vera was trying to compose a letter to Richard Gully, who was head man in her life. She had first intended to tell him before she gave me the news.

If Marilyn Monroe was unhappy when she and Joe DiMaggio parted, she's all over it now. She's as gay as a bird on the set of "Seven Year Itch." In fact, she feels so good that after she gets her divorce decree Wednesday morning she'll work that afternoon. She told Director William Wilder that she doesn't want to hold the picture up any longer.

Marilyn is in such a good mood that her set is open to the press for the first time and she is her old vivacious self.

you if your face is rectangular, square, round, triangular, or oval. Oval? Style your hair simply, whether you prefer the sophisticated or the soft and feminine. Gentle waves at right and left, a smooth top and back, partly turned-up ends reveal perfect contours.

Tips For Other Shapes

A hair style for the square face should avoid exact balance that would only accentuate squareness. Try an offside part with curls high on one side, a flat upward wave at the temples, or a smooth crown accented by a frame of easy-curling ends.

The sharp lines of the triangular face must be softened. Bangs or curls to the side of the forehead are flattening. A smooth top and crown, gently up-waved sides, feathery ends tend to ovalize the triangle.

Ease the temple and forehead lines to de-emphasize the length of the oblong face. Provide side interest with moderate curled full-shape of your face, since an oval is most pleasing to the eye. 5. It must conform to the size of your head and be proportionate to your figure.

Other Requisites

6. It must complement the current silhouette of your clothes, so that head and apparel seem parts of the same design. 7. It must fit into your new hats, which will be snug and close this season. 8. It must manage easily—and it will, if professionally cut and expertly waved. 9. It must groom your appearance by being, itself, groomed to perfection. 10. It must appeal to you—and to others.

Study the contours of your face. Determine its shape, before you select a new hair style. Make a rectangular cardboard frame with a six by nine-inch opening. Push all your hair back from your face, pinning up wisps that show behind the ears. Sit before your mirror and center your face in the frame. Comparison of the facial contours with those of the frame, will tell

Exercise In Virtuosity

Virtuosity is the word for Noel Coward and it's also a word that can be applied very aptly to Ginger Rogers. She broke into the movies as a song and dance doll and graduated into respectability as a dramatic actress in "Kitty Foyle."

Nothing seems to make her happier than to do all those things at once which she did very well in the movie "Lady in the Dark" and did again the other night in Coward's "Tonight at 8:30" on NBC television. If there had been a high wire act thrown in, her cup would have runneth over.

"Tonight at 8:30" was originally a series of nine one-act plays, presented three at a time in rotation on Broadway with Mr. Coward and Gertrude Lawrence trying to outvie one another in virtuosity in the leading roles. Miss Rogers played just three of the little plays, for some reason selecting three plays that were all seen on different nights in the original.

Mr. Coward's virtuosity—that's the last time that word is going to be flung around here—lies not only in the fact that he does many things, not all of them well, but that he can change his point of view almost at will and with great violence. There are a couple of Cowards. One is the witty, sophisticated man who views practically the entire human race with withering contempt. The other is a hopeless romantic who, when the mood seizes him, dishes out sentiment more freely than anything seen in these parts since "Under Two Flags."

For her tour de force, Miss Rogers selected one contemptuous Coward, "Red Peppers," and two sentimental Cowards, "Still Life" and "Shadow Play" and was pretty darned wonderful in all of them. Best known of the three is "Still Life" which was made into a movie under the name "Brief Encounter" which in turn was re-hashed into a television play.

It's been around, this thing, not always happily. The movie spun out the slender story far too widely and I'm glad the public has a chance to see this little tale of a suburban couple who meet and fall desperately and futilely in love and part in a railroad station in the original. It's a very compact and expert bit of stagecraft and the parting of the lovers—Coward can really write a goodbye scene to a fare-thee-well, if you'll pardon the expression—is very affecting.

Miss Rogers opened the 90-minute show, which was in color, with "Red Peppers," which for my money, is the weakest of the nine original offerings. The only reason I can see for picking this one—or, for that matter, for Mr. Coward writing it—is that it offers a very juicy cockney role. In this one, Miss Rogers and Martin Green are cast as an English music hall team singing such chanteys as "Has anyone seen our ship, the HMS Repulsive" and, in the dressing room between turns, are at each other's throats. This is comedy of insult which Mr. Coward writes with great relish and Miss Rogers and Mr. Green played with great relish, too. I've always thought playwright and actors have more fun with this thing than the audience.

The third piece was "Shadow Play," the most ambitious of the three. In this one, Miss Rogers is a matron trembling on the brink of divorce and pretty blue about the whole thing. She takes to her bed and dreams of their past happiness. This gives her a chance to sing and to dance and to act out her whole married life, a whiz-bang of a role if ever there was one: it gives Mr. Coward a chance to trot out some really lovely songs; and it gives producer-director Otto Preminger a chance to throw a little of NBC's money around in lavish settings. In the end, she gets her husband back; just why a dream should do all this I have no idea but then this is just a little exercise in theatrical magic, anyhow, and logic has no place in it.

In "Shadow Play," Miss Gloria Vanderbilt made her TV debut in the part of a particularly venomous little hussy—and no one can turn out this kind of girl better than Coward and played it right to the hilt. Mighty pretty girl to be making such terrible faces, though.

This, of course, was also Miss Rogers TV debut and I devoutly hope we see a lot more of her. She was surrounded by a very fine cast, including Gig Young, Trevor Howard and Mr. Green. This was also the opening shot of a new NBC extravaganza which will come along once a month. The next one: Joseph Cotton and Margaret Sullivan in "State of the Union" November 15.

Incidentally, the ads billed this thing as "Ginger Rogers in Noel Coward's 'Tonight at 8:30' introducing Miss Gloria Vanderbilt."

Please, sirrah! Miss Rogers, Mr. Coward!

Radio And Television

by John Crosby

Exercise In Virtuosity

Virtuosity is the word for Noel Coward and it's also a word that can be applied very aptly to Ginger Rogers. She broke into the movies as a song and dance doll and graduated into respectability as a dramatic actress in "Kitty Foyle." Nothing seems to make her happier than to do all those things at once which she did very well in the movie "Lady in the Dark" and did again the other night in Coward's "Tonight at 8:30" on NBC television. If there had been a high wire act thrown in, her cup would have runneth over.

"Tonight at 8:30" was originally a series of nine one-act plays, presented three at a time in rotation, on Broadway with Mr. Coward and Gertrude Lawrence trying to outvie one another in virtuosity in the leading roles. Miss Rogers played just three of the little plays, for some reason selecting three plays that were all seen on different nights in the original.

Mr. Coward's virtuosity—that's the last time that word is going to be flung around here—lies not only in the fact that he does many things, not all of them well, but that he can change his point of view almost at will and with great violence. There are a couple of Cowards. One is the witty, sophisticated man who views practically the entire human race with withering contempt. The other is a hopeless romantic who, when the mood seizes him, dishes out sentiment more freely than anything seen in these parts since "Under Two Flags."

For her tour de force, Miss Rogers selected one contemptuous Coward, "Red Peppers," and two sentimental Cowards, "Still Life" and "Shadow Play," and was pretty darned wonderful in all of them. Best known of the three is "Still Life" which was made into a movie under the name "Brief Encounter" which in turn was re-hashed into a television play.

It's been around, this thing, not always happily. The movie spun out the slender story far too widely and I'm glad the public has a chance to see this little tale of a suburban couple who meet and fall desperately and futilely in love and part in a railroad station in the original. It's a very compact and expert bit of stagecraft and the parting of the lovers—Coward can really write a goodbye scene to a fare-thee-well, if you'll pardon the expression—is very affecting.

Miss Rogers opened the 90-minute show, which was in color, with "Red Peppers," which for my money, is the weakest of the nine original offerings. The only reason I can see for picking this one—or, for that matter, for Mr. Coward writing it—is that it offers a very juicy cockney role. In this one, Miss Rogers and Martyn Green are cast as an English music hall team singing such chanteys as "Has anyone seen our ship, the HMS Repulsive" and, in the dressing room between turns, are at each other's throats. This is comedy of insult which Mr. Coward writes with great relish and Miss Rogers and Mr. Green played with great relish, too. I've always thought playwright and actors have more fun with this thing than the audience.

The third piece was "Shadow Play," the most ambitious of the three. In this one, Miss Rogers is a matron trembling on the brink of divorce and pretty blue about the whole thing. She takes her bed and dreams of their past happiness. This gives her a chance to sing and to dance and to act her whole married life, a whizbang of a role if ever there was one; it gives Mr. Coward a chance to trot out some really lovely songs; and it gives producer-director Otto Preminger a chance to throw a little of NBC's money around in lavish settings. In the end, she gets her husband back; just why a dream should do all this I have no idea but then this is just a little exercise in theatrical magic, anyhow, and logic has no place in it.

In "Shadow Play," Miss Gloria Vanderbilt made her TV debut in the part of a particularly venomous little hussy—and no one can turn out this kind of girl better than Coward and played it right to the hilt. Mighty pretty girl to be making such terrible faces, though.

This, of course, was also Miss Rogers TV debut and I devoutly hope we see a lot more of her. She was surrounded by a very fine cast, including Gig Young, Trevor Howard and Mr. Green. This was also the opening shot of a new NBC extravaganza which will come along once a month. The next one: Joseph Cotton and Margaret Sullivan in "State of the Union" November 15.

Incidentally, the ads billed this thing as "Ginger Rogers in Noel Coward's 'Tonight at 8:30' introducing Miss Gloria Vanderbilt."

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our husband and father, Jessie L. Easton, who passed away two years ago today, Oct. 25, 1952.

You left a beautiful memory and a sorrow too great to be told,
But to us who loved and lost you,
Your memory will never grow old.

daughters and sons.

In loving memory of our dear little daughter, Nettie Lee Thompson, who died one year ago today, October 25th, 1953.

What would I give to see her hand,
Her happy face to see,
To hear her voice and see her smile,
That meant so much to me.

Mr. & Mrs. Charles Thompson

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our husband and father, Jessie L. Easton, who passed away two years ago today, Oct. 25, 1952.

You left a beautiful memory and a sorrow too great to be told,
But to us who loved and lost you,
Your memory will never grow old.

Sadly missed by his wife,
daughters and sons.

In loving memory of our dear little daughter, Nettie Lee Thompson, who died one year ago today, October 25th, 1953.

What would I give to clasp her hand,
Her happy face to see,
To hear her voice and see her smile,
That meant so much to me.

Mr. & Mrs. Charles Thompson

Play Tournament To Be Held At Fort Hill

The annual one-act play tournament sponsored by the Fort Hill Players will be held in the school auditorium tomorrow at 8 p. m.

The sophomore class will present the "Perfect Gentleman," the junior class, "I Love You Truly," and the senior class, "The Valiant."

Rita Marker, president of Fort Hill National Thespian Troupe 230, will be mistress of ceremonies.

This year's senior class is trying for an all time record. Since the establishment of the tournament 18 years ago, no class has taken the honors three consecutive years. For the past two years, the class has won top honors in the tournament.

Aid Is Planned For Flood Victims
WESTERNPORT—A meeting of the United Organizations has been called by Wayne Ritchie, chairman, today at 7:30 p. m. at the Westernport Library. The meeting is being held to continue aid to the sufferers in the flood area.

All organizations in the Tri-Towns are asked to send representatives.

Work Under Way On Barton Bridge
Work on the Temperance Row Bridge in Barton will get under way today and should be completed in three days, according to William H. Lemmert, president of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

The bridge was closed last week, when the flooring was declared unsafe for traffic. The Conn Welding Company will replace the old bridge flooring.

Club Will Meet
The regular monthly meeting of the Bowling Green Homemakers' Club will be held at St. Matthew's Reformed Church at 1 p. m. tomorrow. All women of the area are welcome.

Full Support
is "expressly prohibited by law" from practicing before the Public Service Commission, and cited sections of the code which sets up the duties of the office.

"There must be a great deal of confusion and internal disagreement among the Democratic hierarchy," Mason added, "because they cannot all agree on their own party platform, or support the platform, because Dr. Byrd is running on a platform favoring a veterans bonus, whereas Mr. Sybert, his running mate, has consistently voted against all bonus bills in the Senate of Maryland in the past several years, and the Senate Records in Annapolis will show this fact."

In closing he urged support for Rollins who has "proven himself" to the people of Maryland.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS
Sealed bids will be received at the office of the City Clerk of Cumberland, Maryland, at the City Hall until 10 o'clock, P. M., November 15, 1954, on which date they will be publicly opened and read for the sale and removal of the Flood Gates and all equipment and buildings in conjunction with same, at the old Industrial Dam on the Potomac River at the confluence of the streams of Wills Creek and the Potomac River.

The Mayor and City Council reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

In the senior class presentation of "The Valiant," will be Melvin Ritter as Warden Holt; George Eskin, the condemned man; Stanley Wilson as Father Daily; Pat Weaver, the girl; Leon Shumaker, the jailer; and Ralph Mahaney, an attendant. Wilson and Ritter are previous "Best Actor" award winners. Barbara Thuss is the director of this play and Rita Marker is her assistant.

"I Love You Truly" will be presented by the junior class. In the cast are Jane Ann Hausmann, George Pitzer, Janet Kessel, Jan Seihler, Virginia Lillard and Elwood Harden. The director is Mary Dailey with Mary Frances Deluca her assistant.

The sophomore class will present "The Perfect Gentleman." Included in this cast are Gail Garlitz; Carol Pater, Clyde Campbell, Alice Zehrbach, and Tom Snyder. Mary Wheeler, sophomore director, is assisted by Louis Graham.

Judging the event will be J. William Hunt, editor of Cumberland Sunday Times; Miss Mary G. Walsh, Public Librarian; Lewyn Davis, Allegany County Supervisor of Education; Miss Dorothy Campbell, president of the Fort Hill Thespian Alumni Association; and Thomas Hutchinson, director of dramatics at Beall High School, Frostburg.

No admission will be charged, but a silver offering will be collected.

Shaft Homemakers Plan Masquerade
FROSTBURG—The Shaft Homemakers Club will hold a masquerade party Tuesday, at the home of Mrs. Clarence Miller with Mrs. George Tennant co-hostess.

Members who wish to make reservation for the county Achievement Day luncheon on Thursday, October 28, are to contact Mrs. Raymond Layman, president. Tickets will be available at the meeting on Tuesday.

Rollins Will Address Area Dental Society
The Allegany-Garrett County Dental Society will hold a dinner meeting November 3 at 6:30 p. m. in All-Ghan Shrine Country Club.

John W. Rollins Jr., local C. P. A., will speak on "Dentists and Income Tax."

Family Night Planned
BARTON—Barton Presbyterian Church will hold a Family Night celebration today at the church, beginning with a dinner at 6 p. m. A program, under the direction of Rev. Elwood Carey, pastor, will follow and a movie entitled "Stranger in the House" will be shown.

Play Tournament To Be Held At Fort Hill

The annual one-act play tournament sponsored by the Fort Hill Players will be held in the school auditorium tomorrow at 8 p. m.

The sophomore class will present the "Perfect Gentleman," the junior class, "I Love You Truly," and the senior class, "The Valiant."

Rita Marker, president of Fort Hill National Thespian Troupe 230, will be mistress of ceremonies.

This year's senior class is trying for an all time record. Since the establishment of the tournament 18 years ago, no class has taken the honors three consecutive years. For the past two years, the class has won top honors in the tournament.

Aid Is Planned For Flood Victims

WESTERNPORT—A meeting of the United Organizations has been called by Wayne Ritchie, chairman, today at 7:30 p. m. at the Westernport Library. The meeting is being held to continue aid to the sufferers in the flood area.

"There must be a great deal of confusion and internal disagreement among the Democratic hierarchy," Mason added, "because they cannot all agree on their own party platform, or support the platform, because Dr. Byrd is running on a platform favoring a veterans bonus, whereas Mr. Sybert, his running mate, has consistently voted against all bonus bills in the Senate of Maryland in the past several years, and the Senate Records in Annapolis will show this fact."

In closing he urged support for Rollins who has "proven himself" to the people of Maryland.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS
Sealed bids will be received at the office of the City Clerk of Cumberland, Maryland, at the City Hall until 10 o'clock, P.M., November 15, 1954, on which date they will be publicly opened and read for the sale and removal of the Flood Gates and all equipment and buildings in conjunction with same, at the old Industrial Dam on the Potomac River at the confluence of the streams of Willis Creek and the Potomac River.

Chief Justice Praises Taney At Dedication

Local Men Join In Ceremonies

The 14th Chief Justice of the United States briefly reviewed the turbulent career of the country's fifth Chief Justice yesterday on the occasion of the dedication of the Chief Justice Taney Monument in Frederick.

Chief Justice Earl Warren, speaking to the second annual pilgrimage of Chief Justice Taney General Assembly, Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus, Cumberland, told his audience how Roger Brooke Taney, a son of a Calvert County tobacco planter, rose to head the nation's highest tribunal for 28 years until his death on Columbus Day, October 12, 1864.

Parallels Career

Warren, introduced by William C. Walsh, Cumberland attorney who presided as master of ceremonies, paralleled Taney's career with his predecessor, John Marshall, pointing out their many similarities despite the fact most historians called them bitter enemies. "His life began a year after the Declaration of Independence; his life ended a few months before Appomattox. During that span of 87 years this nation was founded; a Constitution was established and its central doctrines were expounded; 13 colonies grew to a union of 36 states and that union was nearly torn asunder," Warren related.

Continuing the Chief Justice said, "In 1796 at the age of 19, Taney began his study of law in Annapolis and three years later he was admitted to the bar. He was elected to the Maryland Legislature from Calvert County, in 1801, the year that John Marshall assumed his duties as Chief Justice. Taney commenced the practice of law here in Frederick x x x."

Attorney General

Taney was destined to hold the offices as Attorney General of Maryland and then as Attorney General of the United States in the Cabinet of President Andrew Jackson, Warren said.

"On March 28, 1836, Taney appeared before the United States District Court in Baltimore and in the presence of the distinguished Maryland Bar took the oath of office as the fifth Chief Justice of the United States. He commenced his judicial duties 10 days later and began a tenure as Chief Justice exceeded only by Marshall," Warren continued.

"During this turbulent period—roughly coterminous with the era from Jackson to Lincoln—he was to give the oath of office to seven Presidents, lead the Supreme Court through the most critical period of the nation's history, and serve as an able successor to Marshall as an expounder of the Constitution. x x x"

Detested Disunion

"In a manner of speaking today's tributes help redress an old wrong, helps erase the calumny which Taney's enemies had hurled at him during his lifetime and which superficial historians preserved as gospel truth for a time after his death. x x x Until recent years he was all too frequently characterized as the doctrinal enemy of his predecessor Marshall, as the exponent of narrow provincial interests, as a stalwart defender of the institution of slavery. x x x We know him today as a needed balance to Marshall's conservative nationalism; one who personally detested slavery but who detested even more the prospect of violent disunion. x x x"

"Taney's difference with Marshall have been strongly emphasized; their similarities have been largely ignored. Each had been a Federalist, a leader of the bar of his state and a Cabinet member prior to appointment as Chief Justice. And, although Taney had left the declining Federalist party to support Andrew Jackson, it is reported that Marshall favored the nomination of Taney as Associate Justice. x x x"

Ninety years after his death Americans in all parts of the nation think of Taney as a great Chief Justice "and I am happy to join with you today in honoring his memory," Warren concluded.

Many From City

Of the approximately 200 persons who attended the dedication ceremonies, more than 100 were from Cumberland.

Memorial services and blessing of the new monument were given by Rev. Fr. James M. Hogan, pastor of St. John's Church, Frederick, and the placing of wreaths at the tomb by Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin, representing Maryland, and Sir Knight J. Donald Murray, this city, Faithful Navigator, representing Chief Justice Taney Assembly, followed by firing squad ceremonies concluded the program.

Church services and parade to the cemetery preceded the dedication. (Continued on Page 11, Col. 7)

The Weather

Perfect autumn weather is something special in the mountains of Western Maryland and yesterday was one of those days. It was cool in the morning after an overnight drop to an official 39 degrees, but by afternoon sunny skies brought the thermometer up to 75. The official temperature was 54 at 7:30 p. m. Another day of Indian summer is predicted today.

UNOFFICIAL DOWNTOWN TEMPERATURES
1 p. m.	74
2 p. m.	77
3 p. m.	77
4 p. m.	75
5 p. m.	72

Taney Memorial Dedicated

Chief Justice Earl Warren is shown with William C. Walsh of this city shortly after he delivered the principal address at the dedication of a memorial in Frederick to Roger Brooke Taney, who was the fifth Chief Justice of the United States. Judge Walsh was master of ceremonies at the dedication activities, sponsored by Chief Justice Taney General Assembly, Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus of this city. Taney, who was chief justice for 28 years until his death in 1864, is described in the memorial as "a profound and able lawyer, an upright and fearless judge and a pious and exemplary Christian."

Today's Sermonette

He that hath my commandments, and keepeth them, he it is that loveth me; and he that loveth me shall be loved of my Father, and I will love him, and will manifest myself to him. John 14:21.

Today's sermonette is a digest of the sermon preached yesterday at First Church of the Nazarene by the pastor, Rev. H. E. Heckert. The sermon digests are being prepared through the cooperation of the Cumberland Ministerial Association.

Obedience An Element Of Salvation

By REV. H. E. HECKERT

The Church has found itself in the midst of dispute as to whether salvation is of works or faith. Some have taught a system of mere morality, and have said that by our own righteousness we are to be saved. Others have taught a system of mere faith, and have said, that faith without works is sufficient. Both of these views are opposed to the gospel system, as taught by Christ and His apostles. Faith and works are both essential, but in their proper places. Inverted in their position, they are valueless.

Notice the reference to pardon and justification, it is by faith only. Through this man (Christ Jesus) is preached, "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ and thou shalt be saved." Good works are to be the evidences of the genuineness of our faith. James asks the question, "What doth it profit." With the qualification in reference to pardon and acceptance with God, it is—faith alone. But that it is productive of good works.

Faith is the root, obedience the fruit. Faith the soul of salvation, obedience the body, in which it becomes palpable.

Faith enters the Divine family, obedience shows that we are the children of the family.

Faith receives the kingdom of God, obedience acts with the loyalty of good subjects.

Salvation is not self-righteous.

Mrs. Rooney's Will Admitted To Probate

The will of Mrs. Ella E. Rooney of Frostburg, who died July 25 at the age of 88, was admitted to probate Friday in Allegany County Orphans Court.

A daughter, Miss Mary Rooney, 2513 Liberty Heights Avenue, Baltimore, qualified as executrix of the estate. The will, dated August 13, 1930, left virtually all of Mrs. Rooney's property, including real estate, household furniture and other personal property to two sons and a daughter, Martin Rooney, Francis Rooney and Mary Rooney.

If none of her unmarried children wishes to reside in the home, place on Mount Pleasant Street in Frostburg, the property is to be sold, converted to cash and the proceeds divided equally among the three children.

Seeks Constable's Job

Andrew Lennox Friday submitted an application to the Allegany County Commissioners for appointment as constable-at-large for the Mt. Savage area.

obedience, not the mere strivings of the carnal heart, not the mere respectable morality which will do for the world; rather the obedience of the renewed heart, the workings of faith, the fruit of God's Holy Spirit within us. Not so much of us, as God working within us. "Nevertheless, I live, yet not I, but Christ liveth in me." In legal obedience there is a striving to obey, to be saved, to do and live; but in true obedience, I obey, because I am saved. I do, because I live.

The Christian obedience is the obedience of love. It is not a slavish obedience which is irksome and galling, which is so aptly illustrated by the toiling Israelites in Egypt. Neither is it the obedience of the hireling. Theirs is often performed cheerfully, but the eye is ever on the wage or reward. Give your heart to God, then your obedience will be the obedience of love.

We should ascertain clearly the will of God, and then do it. Do it without murmuring, or debating, or questioning the propriety of what God demands. We may not always see the design; but we should remember who it is that commands.

Develop a willing spirit. Ask of God not only to write his law on your heart, but to give you the spirit that will delight to do the will of God.

Keep your heart in tune to the Saviour's grace. Of yourselves you cannot honor God. His grace is indispensable. His grace is provided. His grace will be freely granted you in response to your prayer and need.

Rely on the gracious Saviour. Our souls and services are only acceptable to God through Christ Jesus. All must be laid on that altar, which sanctifies both the worshiper and the gift.

Smith Will Address Ridgeley Lions Club

Members of the Ridgeley Lions Club will hear a talk on civil defense at their meeting Tuesday at 6:45 p. m. in the Peraboe Lounge.

The address will be presented by Charles G. Smith, Allegany County coordinator for the Ground Observer Corps.

Plans will also be formulated by the Ridgeley Lions for a Ladies Night event which will be held November 3.

That meeting will also be a charter night celebration, at which District Governor Clarence C. Street, Masontown, will present awards to charter members.

County Fourth In Bond Sales

Allegany County is fourth among Maryland counties in sales of series E and H savings bonds, Lynn C. Lashley, chairman of the county campaign, announced.

With 66.5 per cent of its goal of $3,175,700 reached Allegany ranks behind Washington, Harford and Baltimore counties. Local sales have amounted to $2,116,067 with $199,830 being sold in September.

Washington County leads with 89 per cent of its $2,940,900 quota reached.

The state has sold 60 per cent of its present quota of $74,200,000 with sales in Maryland amounting to $4,704,000 in September, slightly under the same month last year.

Maryland rates 41st in the national campaign as sales amounted to $367,000,000 for September throughout the country. This was an overall increase in the nation of seven per cent over September of 1953.

Margaret Gray Jailed As Parole Violator

Margaret Ellen Gray, 42, who pleaded guilty to second degree murder in Allegany County Circuit Court three years ago this month, has been placed in County Jail pending an investigation by Probation and Parole Officer David M. Steele concerning a possible violation of her parole.

She was sentenced to 10 years in the Maryland Reformatory for Women in October 1951, after pleading guilty to second degree murder in the shooting August 2, 1951, of her common-law husband, Niles Jennings Michael, 50, at North Branch.

She was paroled from the reformatory earlier this year and for a time lived in Baltimore County. She has been living here with a sister since spring. Steele said last night that she has been reporting to him regularly since coming here. However, she was jailed after he received a complaint about her behavior.

40,876 County Voters Eligible To Cast Ballots

Republicans Hike Their Majority

Some 40,876 residents of Allegany County are eligible to vote in the November 2 state and county general election, according to William A. Wilson, president of the County Board of Election Supervisors.

Wilson observed that this total represents a drop of 1,269 from the 42,145 who were eligible to vote a year ago.

Since last fall about 2,000 names of voters who had failed to cast ballots in a state or county general election since 1948 have been stricken from the poll books. Over 700 new registrants this year took up part of the slack.

An analysis of the registration figures shows that the Republicans in Allegany County are even more dominant than they were a year ago.

In 1953 the 42,145 registered voters included 23,624 (56.1 per cent) Republicans and 18,237 (43.3 per cent) Democrats with a smattering of independents and other party members.

The new figures, released yesterday by Wilson, list 23,106 Republicans, or 56.5 per cent of all registered voters. The Democrats have sagged to 17,501, only 42.8 per cent. The Republicans have dropped 518 voters in a year while the Democrats have lost 736, a net GOP gain of 218 voters.

Allegany County's voters include 454 colored residents.

Air Force Enlists Ten

Ten men were enlisted last week in the United States Air Force, for periods of four years each, according to Air Force Recruiter M-Sgt. Ralph W. Stewart.

The group, assigned to Sampson Air Force Base at Geneva, N. Y., will receive their basic training there and after about nine weeks, under a new program, will be given a ten-day furlough at home. After their vacation, they will be assigned to technical schools or directly to an Air Force base.

Those accepted for enlistment include, William L. Swanner, RFD No. 1, Ridgeley; William S. Brown Jr., Barton; Frank R. Turner, RFD No. 1, Avilton; James E. Carbaugh, 709 Princeton Street, and George L. Hast, 1902 Bedford Street, both this city.

Five of the men are from Lonaconing, including, John G. Gowans, 47 Church Street; William E. Robertson, 24 Church Street; Robert W. Morris, 126 Jackson Street; William H. Freeman, Watercliffe Street; and Louis Fazenbaker, Water Station Run.

Girls' School Seeks Award In Contest

Catholic Girls Central High School is one of 22 Maryland high schools which have entered the national search for the American Homemaker of Tomorrow in which senior girls in high school graduating classes everywhere are eligible to participate.

Each state winner will receive a $1,500 scholarship at the college of her choice and a golden-jeweled pin styled by Trifari of New York City. Her school will be given a set of the Encyclopedia Britannica for its library.

The girl chosen the Betty Crocker All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow at Philadelphia Next April 21, will be awarded a $5,000 scholarship, a gold diamond studded brooch, and a three months educational tour of the United States in the interest of homemaking.

Each state candidate for the award will be taken with their class advisor on a tour of national shrines in Washington, D. C., Colonial Williamsburg, Va., and Philadelphia, Pa., starting next April 17 and culminating in selection of the national winner at an American table dinner fete in Philadelphia April 21.

Selections will be made through a written examination to be given in all participating schools next Jan. 12. The test has been developed by Science Research Associates of Chicago, which will grade and name winners in cooperation with a national advisory committee of leading educators and prominent citizens.

All public and parochial high schools in the United States have been invited to participate. By returning an entrance card, each school will be sent vocational guidance material, rules and information about the examination, and, next January, examination papers for all eligible graduating high school senior girls.

Nurse To Sail For England To Join Husband

Leaves Tomorrow From New York

A 21-year-old graduate of Memorial Hospital School of Nursing will leave Tuesday night to begin a five-day trip to England where she will meet her soldier husband who is stationed in the British Isles.

Mrs. Darlene Bryan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Wright, 431 Cumberland Street, will sail aboard the Queen Elizabeth leaving New York City Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock. She will meet her husband, Cpl. John R. Bryan, Jr., when the boat docks at Southampton November 1.

Mrs. Bryan was graduated from the Memorial Hospital School of Nursing in June of this year and just recently took her state board examinations for registered nursing.

She said last night she does not expect to do any nursing abroad as her husband's tenure of enlistment ends in August of next year when they will return to the states.

The trip is being made at her own expense and the young couple will live in an apartment at Cranwich, England, where her husband is stationed with the 83rd Infantry Division.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Bryan Sr., of Luke, Cpl. Bryan has been in the armed services since August 20, 1953. He is a graduate of Frostburg State Teachers College, gaining his B.S. degree in elementary education.

Seven of them are from Cumberland. They are Glenn R. Kemmet, Robert M. Campbell, Walter L. Johnson, Joseph P. Buday, Donald O. Cunningham, John S. Cook Jr., and Charles M. Meister. The three from Frostburg are George G. Adams, James R. Wiebrecht and Carl V. Glass. From Keyser are Autumn B. Cole, Herman L. Webb and Thomas H. Smith.

Pittsburgh Glass Plant Will Use As Much Power As City Of Winchester, Virginia

It will take as much electric power to supply the needs of the new Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company plant at North Branch as it does to provide for all of the electrical service for Winchester, Va., a city of 13,841.

That statement is included in an article concerning the new plant which appears in the October issue of the Potomac Edison News, monthly publication of the area public utility.

REV. H. HALL SHARP

Rev. Dr. Sharp, St. Luke's Pastor, Dies In Hospital

Had Served Local Pastorate 34 Years

Rev. H. Hall Sharp, D. D., pastor of St. Luke's Lutheran Church for the past 34 years, died late Saturday night in Memorial Hospital, where he had been a patient since Thursday morning. He had been in ill health for the past five weeks.

A native of Schaffersstown, Pa., he was the son of the late Harry M. and Katherine (Fernsler) Sharp. Before coming to Cumberland, he was in charge of a Lutheran parish at Mechanicsburg, Pa. He had been a member of the ministry for 45 years.

Dr. Sharp was a graduate of Gettysburg College and Seminary. He was a charter member of the Cumberland Kiwanis Club and was also a member of Salem Chapter 18, Royal Arch Masons.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Mary M. (Martin) Sharp, a son, Martin Sharp, Cumberland, and one grandchild.

The body is at the Stein Funeral Home. It will be taken to the church tomorrow at noon, where it will lie in state until 7 p. m., when services will be conducted by Rev. Dr. Frank Fife, president of the Maryland Synod.

He will be assisted by Rev. Dr. Hixon T. Bowersox, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church here; Rev. Frederick J. Eckert, pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church here, and Rev. William J. Yingling, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran, Frostburg. Wednesday the body will be taken to Enola, Pa., for interment in the family cemetery.

Rallies Planned This Week For Senator Kimble

Flintstone Meeting To Be Held Tonight

State Senator Robert B. Kimble has scheduled visits to many Allegany County communities this week as he winds up his campaign for reelection.

Senator Kimble will be the principal speaker today at 7:30 p. m. at a rally to be held in the Flintstone Fire Hall.

On Tuesday, he will accompany Governor Theodore R. McKeldin, Attorney General Edward D. E. Rollins and other Republican candidates on a GOP Caravan tour of the county. This all-day trek will include luncheon at Frostburg and conclude with a Cumberland rally at 7 p. m. in Centre Street Methodist Church.

Earl E. Manges, former chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, will speak on Sen. Kimble's behalf at a rally in the Cresaptown Fire Hall Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. The senator will sit in on this rally and at 8:30 p. m. will attend a convocation at the Frostburg Republican Club, being sponsored by the State Central Committee.

A Charles Stewart, Frostburg, leading Republican and Register of Wills of Allegany County, will speak for Sen. Kimble's candidacy at a rally Thursday at 8 p. m. in Zihlman.

On Friday, the senator will attend the Halloween parade which will be held in South End under the sponsorship of the South Cumberland Business Men's Association, and later attend a GOP Rally planned at 8 p. m. in Westernport by the Republican State Central Committee.

Richard B. Tucker, the company's executive vice president; Governor Theodore R. McKeldin, U. S. Senator J. Glenn Beall and Congressman DeWitt S. Hyde.

"Obviously, what benefits the community will also benefit Potomac Edison, for only as our service area grows can we grow and our job opportunities improve and expand," the account states.

"But our good fortune brings with it a great deal of responsibility. Reliable and continuous service are of tremendous importance in this new operation," the publication states.

The article then cites that PE engineers and officials have been working with representatives from Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company since December 1953 concerning

Full Support For Rollins Is Urged Here

Mason Urges Votes For GOP Candidate

Full support from citizens of Allegany County for Edward D. E. Rollins, Governor McKeldin's running mate for attorney general of Maryland, is being urged here.

In a recent address, Trial Magistrate Donald W. Mason termed the vote for attorney general one of the most vital in the November 2 election, and urged voters to support Rollins, who has served in the office admirably and with dignity for the past two years.

Mason pointed out that many voters do not realize they must cast ballots for the post. He cited results from the June 28 primary election in Baltimore, where there were 65,000 more votes cast for governor than for attorney general.

Many of these voters, he added, apparently thought a vote for governor was a vote for his candidate's running mate for attorney general.

Is Navy Veteran

Rollins, he said, has had a long and distinguished career as an attorney, war veteran, public servant and civic leader.

He was educated in Baltimore City College and the University of Maryland's law school. Rollins is married and the father of three children, and is a member of the Elks, Kiwanis and numerous other civic and fraternal organizations.

Mason recounted that Rollins enlisted in the Navy as an apprentice seaman in 1917 and was discharged as a chief petty officer in 1919. Long active in veterans affairs, he has served as judge advocate of the Department of Maryland, American Legion.

As an attorney, Rollins is president of the Cecil County Bar Association and chairman of the Habeas Corpus committee of the National Conference of Attorney Generals.

Since his appointment in 1952, Mason said, Rollins has won praise for his "fearless, vigorous and impartial" administration of his office, and has proved an able legal adviser and counsellor of Governor McKeldin.

Mason said the voters, and C. Ferdinand Sybert, of Howard County, Democratic candidate for the post, should familiarize themselves with the duties of the office.

Hits Demo Confusion

Sybert, Mason said, is not familiar with the duties of the attorney general, as evidenced by a statement in which he criticized Rollins for not appearing before the Public Service Commission to protest a rate increase sought by the Baltimore City Transit Company.

Mason said the attorney general (

Chief Justice Praises Taney At Dedication

Local Men Join In Ceremonies

The 14th Chief Justice of the United States briefly reviewed the turbulent career of the country's fifth Chief Justice yesterday on the occasion of the dedication of the Chief Justice Taney Monument in Frederick.

Chief Justice Earl Warren, speaking to the second annual pilgrimage of Chief Justice Taney General Assembly, Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus, Cumberland, told his audience how Roger Brooke Taney, a son of a Calvert County tobacco planter, rose to head the nation's highest tribunal for 28 years until his death on Columbus Day, October 12, 1864.

Parallels Career

Warren, introduced by William C. Walsh, Cumberland attorney who presided as master of ceremonies, paralleled Taney's career with his predecessor, John Marshall, pointing out their many similarities despite the fact most historians called them bitter enemies.

"His life began a year after the Declaration of Independence; his life ended a few months before Appomattox. During that span of 87 years this nation was founded; a Constitution was established and its central doctrines were expounded; 13 colonies grew to a union of 36 states and that union was nearly torn asunder," Warren related.

Continuing the Chief Justice said, "In 1796 at the age of 19, Taney began his study of law in Annapolis and three years later he was admitted to the bar. He was elected to the Maryland Legislature from Calvert County. In 1801, the year that John Marshall assumed his duties as Chief Justice, Taney commenced the practice of law here in Frederick x x x."

Attorney General
Taney was destined to hold the offices as Attorney General of Maryland and then as Attorney General of the United States in the Cabinet of President Andrew Jackson, Warren said.

"On March 28, 1836, Taney appeared before the United States District Court in Baltimore and in the presence of the distinguished Maryland Bar took the oath of office as the fifth Chief Justice of the United States. He commenced his judicial duties 10 days later and began a tenure as Chief Justice exceeded only by Marshall," Warren continued.

"During this turbulent period—roughly coterminous with the era from Jackson to Lincoln—he was to give the oath of office to seven Presidents, lead the Supreme Court through the most critical period of the nation's history, and serve as an able successor to Marshall as an expounder of the Constitution. x x x"

Defested Disunion
"In a manner of speaking today's tribute helps redress an old wrong, helps erase the calumny which Taney's enemies had hurled at him during his lifetime and which superficial historians preserved as gospel truth for a time after his death. x x x Until recent years he was all too frequently characterized as the doctrinal enemy of his predecessor Marshall, as the exponent of narrow provincialism, as a stalwart defender of the institution of slavery. x x x We know him today as a needed balance to Marshall's conservative nationalism; one who personally defested slavery but who defested even more the prospect of violent disunion. x x x"

"Taney's difference with Marshall have been strongly emphasized; their similarities have been largely ignored. Each had been a Federalist, a leader of the bar of his state and a Cabinet member prior to appointment as Chief Justice. And, although Taney had left the declining Federalist party to support Andrew Jackson, it is reported that Marshall favored the nomination of Taney as Associate Justice. x x x"

Ninety years after his death Americans in all parts of the nation think of Taney as a great Chief Justice "and I am happy to join with you today in honoring his memory," Warren concluded.

Many From City
Of the approximate 200 persons who attended the dedication ceremonies, more than 100 were from Cumberland.

Memorial services and blessing of the new monument were given by Rev. F. James M. Hogan, pastor of St. John's Church, Frederick, and the placing of wreaths at the tomb by Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin, representing Maryland, and Sir Knight J. Donald Murray, this city, Faithful Navigator, representing Chief Justice Taney Assembly, followed by firing squad ceremonies concluded the program. Church services and parade to the cemetery preceded the dedication. (Continued on Page 11, Col. 7)

The Weather

Perfect autumn weather is something special in the mountains of Western Maryland and yesterday was one of those days. It was cool in the morning after an overnight drop to an official 39 degrees, but by afternoon sunny skies brought the thermometer up to 75. The official temperature was 54 at 7:30 p. m. Another day of Indian summer is predicted today.

Taney Memorial Dedicated

Today's Sermonette

He that hath my commandments, and keepeth them, he it is that loveth me; and he that loveth me shall be loved of my Father, and I will love him, and will manifest myself to him. John 14:21.

Today's sermonette is a digest of the sermon preached yesterday at First Church of the Nazarene by the pastor, Rev. H. E. Heckert. The sermon digests are being prepared through the cooperation of the Cumberland Ministerial Association.

Obedience An Element Of Salvation

By REV. H. E. HECKERT

The Church has found itself in the midst of dispute as to whether salvation is of works or faith. Some have taught a system of mere morality, and have said that by our own righteousness we are to be saved. Others have taught a system of mere faith, and have said, that faith without works is sufficient. Both of these views are opposed to the gospel system, as taught by Christ and His apostles. Faith and works are both essential, but in their proper places. Inverted in their position, they are valueless.

Notice the reference to pardon and justification, it is by faith only. Through this man (Christ Jesus) is preached, "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ and thou shalt be saved." Good works are to be the evidences of the genuineness of our faith. James asks the question, "What doth it profit?" With the qualification in reference to pardon and acceptance with God, it is—faith alone. But that it is productive of good works.

Faith is the root, obedience the fruit. The soul of salvation, obedience the body, in which it becomes palpable.

Faith enters the Divine family, obedience shows that we are the children of the family.

Faith receives the kingdom of God, obedience acts with the loyalty of good subjects.

Mrs. Rooney's Will Admitted To Probate

The will of Mrs. Ella E. Rooney of Frostburg, who died July 25 at the age of 88, was admitted to probate Friday in Allegany County Orphans Court.

A daughter, Miss Mary Rooney, 2513 Liberty Heights Avenue, Baltimore, qualified as executrix of the estate.

The will, dated August 13, 1930, left virtually all of Mrs. Rooney's property, including real estate, household furniture and other personal property to two sons and a daughter, Martin Rooney, Francis Rooney and Mary Rooney.

If none of her unmarried children wishes to reside in the home, place on Mount Pleasant Street in Frostburg, the property is to be sold, converted to cash and the proceeds divided equally among the three children.

Seeks Constable's Job

Andrew Lennox Friday submitted an application to the Allegany County Commissioners for appointment as constable-at-large for the Mt. Savage area.

obedience, not the mere strivings of the carnal heart, not the mere respectable morality which will do for the world; rather the obedience of the renewed heart, the workings of faith, the fruit of God's Holy Spirit within us. Not so much of us, as God working within us. "Nevertheless, I live, yet not I, but Christ liveth in me." In legal obedience there is a striving to obey, to be saved, to do and live; but in true obedience, I obey, because I am saved. I do, because I live.

Girls' School Seeks Award In Contest

Catholic Girls Central High School is one of 22 Maryland high schools which have entered the national search for the American Homemaker of Tomorrow in which senior girls in high school graduating classes everywhere are eligible to participate.

Each state winner will receive a $1,500 scholarship at the college of her choice and a golden-jeweled pin styled by Trifari of New York City. Her school will be given a set of the Encyclopedia Britannica for its library.

The girl chosen the Betty Crocker All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow at Philadelphia Next April 21, will be awarded a $5,000 scholarship, a gold diamond studded brooch, and a three months educational tour of the United States in the interest of homemaking.

Each state candidate for the award will be taken with their class advisor on a tour of national shrines in Washington, D. C., Colonial Williamsburg, Va., and Philadelphia, Pa., starting next April 17 and culminating in selection of the national winner at an American table dinner fete in Philadelphia April 21.

Selections will be made through a written examination to be given in all participating schools next Jan. 12. The test has been developed by Science Research Associates of Chicago, which will grade and name winners in cooperation with a national advisory committee of leading educators and prominent citizens.

All public and parochial high schools in the United States have been invited to participate. By returning an entrance card, each school will be sent vocational guidance material, rules and information about the examination, and next January, examination papers for all eligible graduating high school senior girls.

Nurse To Sail For England To Join Husband

Leaves Tomorrow From New York

A 21-year-old graduate of Memorial Hospital School of Nursing will leave Tuesday night to begin a five-day trip to England where she will meet her soldier husband who is stationed in the British Isles.

Mrs. Darlene Bryan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Wright, 431 Cumberland Street, will sail aboard the Queen Elizabeth leaving New York City Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock. She will meet her husband, Cpl. John R. Bryan, Jr., when the boat docks at Southampton November 1.

Mrs. Bryan was graduated from the Memorial Hospital School of Nursing in June of this year and just recently took her state board examinations for registered nursing.

She said last night she does not expect to do any nursing abroad as her husband's tenure of enlistment ends in August of next year when they will return to the states.

The trip is being made at her own expense and the young couple will live in an apartment at Cranwich, England, where her husband is stationed with the 83rd Infantry Division.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Bryan Sr., of Luke, Cpl. Bryan has been in the armed services since August 20, 1953. He is a graduate of Frostburg State Teachers College, gaining his B.S. degree in elementary education.
